THE BACKLASH

THE owner of a Staffordshire bull terrier fears for her pet's life after it was poisoned with rat repellent.

Heidi Shepherd said her dog Max has become the target of a vicious hate campaign by people assuming it was responsible for a spate of attacks around Bush Fair in recent weeks.

The three-year-old had to be taken to the vets after it gobbled the potentially lethal rat poison which was wrapped in bread and thrown into the garden of her home in Glebelands, Harlow.

The friendly mutt even gets taunted with shouts of 'killer' while he's being taken for a walk.

Miss Shepherd (31) now fears her beloved pet will be killed.

"It is getting really bad," she said. "Max has not hurt anybody and he wouldn't."

"They have thrown bricks at my windows and the rabbit in the back garden keeps getting set free. I live with my mum and she is getting really shaken up by it all. I just want this to stop."

The Star has called on its readers to help police find the dog or dogs responsible for the attacks amid fears the next victim could be a child. Since the launch of our campaign readers have inundated police and our newsroom with information about possible sightings.

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassooni@hertsessexnews.co.uk

The attack on Max, which happened on Thursday night, has sickened officers who have warned anyone found intentionally harming an animal could face prosecution.

● POLICE say the Star's high-profile campaign is already having results.

There have been no further reports of dog-on-dog attacks since we launched our appeal for help to identify the terror terrier which was savaging at least one dog a week.

The feedback marks a positive step towards stopping the animal which has been wandering the area of Bush Fair alone.

Police think the owner may have taken notice of media coverage and decided to keep the beast on a tight leash.

Here's what just a few of our students, leaving this year, have to say about what going to Epping Forest College has meant to them:

Darren from Manor Park used his qualifications in vehicle maintenance and repair to get a job at a local Mitsubishi main dealer whilst Michael from Hackney used his to find employment in the Metropolitan Police garage.

Chloe from Bethnal Green is well on the way to her goal of becoming a teacher or social worker having gained her Diploma in Childcare & Education with three "A"s. She is now at university.

Kirstie from Chigwell achieved distinctions in her National Diploma in Performing Arts and went straight onto a cruise ship for a tour as a singer. She also has a part in panto to look forward to.

Tony from Forest Gate says his course in Art and Design was the "Best chapter in my life so far". His straight distinctions have gained him a university place studying product design.

Charlotte and Becky, both from Loughton, studied Beauty at levels 2 and 3 and then secured jobs at Holmes Place. Fellow student Leigh, went into a job at the David Lloyd Centre.

Jacqueline from Epping joined the college to study AS levels but discovered a vocational course suited her better so moved across to BND Business where her high grades have gained her a place at university studying for a Business Management degree.

Walkers' efforts boost Alzheimer's group

WALKERS have raised thousands of pounds for the Harlow branch of the Alzheimer's Society. About 100 people took part in one of two Memory Walks – one around the Town Park and the other along the River Stort – on Sunday. Branch chairman Gordon Younger said afterwards: "We were delighted with how many people took part and we want to say a massive thank you to everyone. "Currently we are supporting over 260 people with dementia living in Harlow.

"Without the support such as we were fortunate to receive it would simply be impossible to maintain our vital work." The walkers raised in the region of £6,000.

Metric martyr's joy at EU U-turn

By BEN WILKINSON
Chief Reporter
wilkinsonb@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A MILITANT campaigner for the right to use traditional imperial weights and measures was celebrating victory this week as the European Union gave up its fight to force Britain to go entirely metric.

Tony Bennett, pictured right, of Chippingfield, Old Harlow, was among a group of persistent champions of the imperial system who hailed the sudden U-turn as a great day for the country – allowing it to keep pounds, ounces, pints, miles and yards.

Despite trying to force the ancient system out of British life since 1980, Brussels bureaucrats had a sudden change of heart and the EU's industry commissioner confirmed on Tuesday that imperial measurements can be used alongside the metric equivalents indefinitely.

Welcoming the announcement, Mr Bennett (60), who has been arrested seven times in the course of his campaigning and founded the Active Resistance To Metrication group, which painted over 3,000 metric road signs with imperial measures, said he intended to mark the decision by having a beer a two in his preferred measurement of a pint.

"Since 1980 the Government has had to beg the EU every few years so we can keep miles on our road signs or our pints of beer for a little bit longer, he said. "Now, after 27 years, the public's voice has finally been heard.

"Essentially the EU is heartedly sick of trying to convince us and has given up. When I heard Gunter Verheugen on the radio saying the EU was now happy to let the 'great British pint' survive I was overjoyed."

Before this week's announcement the British Government was under obligation to set a timetable to ban all official uses of imperial measures within three years – even though the system, used almost universally up until the 1970s, is still the first choice for many people.

Mr Bennett now insists all imperial weights and measures should still be taught in schools alongside metric equivalents: "It's no good only teaching them about metres and kilograms if they then go home and their parents are talking about yards and pounds."

Repeat offender is jailed

A PROLIFIC offender who was let off by a judge to demonstrate that he could behave himself has been jailed.

Nicholas Armstrong (43), of Wedhey, Harlow, was allowed to walk free from court on July 10 after a judge decided to defer sentencing him on a conviction of carrying a knife while riding a bike in Haydens Road, Harlow, in June 2006.

However, he was caught stealing toiletries from the town's Asda store just 10 days later.

Chelmsford Crown Court heard on Thursday that Armstrong had stolen £3.76 of goods from the store and had 58 previous court appearances for 174 offences.

Philip Stott, in mitigation, said Armstrong stole deodorants for a friend he felt sorry for.

But jailing him for two months, Judge Peter Fenn said: "I deferred sentence on you and told you that if you kept out of trouble I would not impose an immediate custodial sentence. Within 10 days of me giving you a chance, you re-offended again.

"You have quite deliberately breached the terms of the order and I have no option but to send you back to prison."

Homelessness crisis looming

By BEN WILKINSON
Chief Reporter
wilkinsonb@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW could be on the brink of a massive homelessness crisis.

As the Star revealed last week The Angle tower block – formerly the YWCA – in Fourth Avenue is to be demolished, along with adjoining music venue The Square, under plans by lease owners Blackwater/South Anglia.

The housing association plans to clear the site to make way for new 'affordable' homes which will be available to families on the housing waiting list.

Tenants have been warned they may need to move out of the building by August next year. But the residents, many of whom were given a flat in the block after years living rough, say that if they are thrown out they will be back on the streets.

Gavin Rennie (54), who has lived in The Angle since January, said residents only found out about the plans by reading the Star report.

"You would have thought they would have told us first," he complained. "If this goes there is nowhere else for us."

"We knew they were talking about knocking down The Angle and replacing it with new hostel accommodation, but now we learn that only houses are planned. I can guarantee you none of us in there will get a house; we'll be back on the streets."

ANGRY: Residents Darren Bangs, Russell Farrow, Ted Dordoy, Jamie Dordoy and Gavin Rennie outside The Angle (photo: WJQF229S/06)

Patsy Dye, who runs Harlow Homeless Centre, added: "The Angle may not be the nicest of buildings but they can't just tear it down without considering the consequences."

The looming homelessness problem was confirmed by Harlow Council. Joint leader Tony Durcan said hostel accommodation in the town was already in short supply even without the loss of such a major scheme.

A spokeswoman for Blackwater/South Anglia said although a year's notice had been served, it could take a further two years before The Angle is demolished, subject to planning permission being granted.

"For the past four to five years The Angle has been significantly under-occupied and has been receiving fewer referrals," she added.

"All residents were informed in October 2006 that we intended to close in December 2008. All new residents have been informed on arrival of the plans for closure and have been put on short-term excluded licences."

"As an independent living centre which provides temporary accommodation, The Angle does not have a duty to re-house residents on excluded licences, which they are fully aware of."

Political rivals united over threat to Square

A POLITICAL consensus to save The Square is gathering momentum with both Harlow MP Bill Rammell and his Conservative rival Robert Halfon pledging to fight the music venue's closure.

Since reading about plans to demolish The Square in last week's Star, Mr Rammell has held a series of emergency meetings with the housing association, Essex County Council and representatives of Square One, the group hoping to take over the running of the venue in its final months.

Now he is calling on County Hall to delay implementing new age restrictions on entry to the venue and hand over the running of the building and its equipment to Square One.

Mr Rammell and Square One representatives are due to hold talks with Tracey Chapman, county council cabinet member for schools, children and families, next Friday.

This week Mr Rammell said he had initially criticised South Anglia bosses "in forceful terms" for their failure to consult the community over their plans. But he now accepted they recognised the importance of The Square and only decided to press ahead after County Hall indicated it had no long-term interest in its future.

"Quite frankly I and the Save The Square campaigners feel we have been misled over the past six months by the Tories at County Hall," Mr Rammell told the Star. "Under widespread community pressure they agreed to a six-month review period but now we learn, before that six months is up, that they have been privately giving a nod and a wink to South Anglia that they have no interest in the future of The Square."

But Mr Halfon, who has also requested meetings with Mrs Chapman and South Anglia, laid the blame on Government policy rather than County Hall.

THE SQUARE

"It is no surprise that unsustainable and centrally-imposed housing targets from the Government mean that vital places like The Square and The Angle are under threat," he said.

"Both The Square and The Angle provide invaluable services to the local community. We cannot just stand by and let these plans go through."

Mrs Chapman said she was surprised and saddened by Mr Rammell's comments.

"We have stood by our word to allow adult attendance at the building for six months, as agreed, and have given Square One that time to develop their plans for continued adult use," she said. "I look forward to discussing Bill's initial and draft plans with him when we meet next week."

But she added: "I am happy to admit that my entire focus here is on the provision of quality facilities and experiences for the young people of Harlow, not the provision of an adult music venue."

● Petitions to save The Square and The Angle can be signed online at www.bill-rammell.com and www.harlow-conservatives.co.uk

Board member brands plans a 'disgrace' and quits in protest

A MEMBER of the board of South Anglia has resigned in protest at the housing association's plans.

Lee Dangerfield, a Harlow councillor who represents Berecroft tenants on one of the association's local boards, stood down at a meeting on Tuesday after objecting to the "disgraceful" decision over The Square and The Angle. Mr Dangerfield said it would not be in the interest of Berecroft residents – many of whom use The Square – for him to offer implied support by remaining a member of the committee.

And he said it was unbelievable that a cut in hostel provision could be considered in light of the town's need.

"Some people have pointed the finger at Essex County Council but we should remember they are only the tenants," he said. "The real villains here are South Anglia and I feel so strongly about it that I felt my only option was to resign."

"We didn't even get notified of these plans let alone consulted and I think it's an insult to the people of Harlow."

Police station tour gives Rachel ideas

A TEENAGE fan of a TV police drama got a taste of the real-life Bill when she was invited for a tour of Harlow Police Station. The trip convinced disabled teen Rachel Courtney, of Harlow, that a career with the police is the job for her.

Accompanied by PCs Karl England and Richard Orme, the 15-year-old – who suffers cerebral palsy and attends a special school in Hertfordshire – examined officers' kit, toured the custody suite and learnt about the processing of prisoners. "I'm now convinced that I want a career in the police service as a communications officer, so will really try hard in my GCSEs and A-levels," she said. "The visit was an amazing experience – I learnt so much."

Labour veteran and charity chief dies

THE death has been announced of former Harlow councillor Bernard Jones, the third Labour party veteran to pass away in just a few weeks.

Mr Jones, pictured right, whose funeral was held yesterday (Wednesday), died at Princess Alexandra Hospital on August 29 after a lengthy battle with emphysema. He was 74.

His death closely follows those of serving councillors Roy Collyer, whose funeral was held on Friday, and Jack Jesse.

A district councillor for Netteswell East ward from 1995-2003, Mr Jones served as chairman of the human resources committee and vice-chairman of the Mark Hall and Netteswell area committee.

In addition, he also served as chairman of the charity Age Concern Harlow for the past 10 years.

Harlow Council chairwoman Lorna Spenceley said: "I wish to pay tribute to Bernard for his time spent serving the local community as a councillor. He was also well known for his work with older people. The council's thoughts are with Bernard's family and friends at this difficult time."

Lisa Mahoney, chief officer at Age Concern Harlow, said: "Bernie, as we fondly knew him, was a professional."

"He supported Age Concern and myself with his vast knowledge, dedication and his concern that older people should be listened to and treated fairly."

"He was a good man and will be missed by many."

Recycling rates rise in Harlow

RECYCLING is on the increase in Harlow, new figures reveal.

Council chiefs have reported a 25 per cent increase in the amount of rubbish diverted from landfill sites during one month compared to the same time last year.

Bin men collected a total of 448 tonnes of recyclable rubbish from kerbsides in July. Last year, only 357 tonnes were collected.

Environment and community committee chairwoman Eleanor Macy said: "We still need more people to reduce, re-use and recycle their waste before they think about throwing it away."

Fury at plans to move park zoo

By CHRIS MOSS

mossc@hertsexnews.co.uk

FURIOUS residents have taken a stand against controversial plans to move Pets Corner to fields adjacent to their neighbourhood.

The Star has been inundated with calls from concerned inhabitants of Altham Grove, who fear Harlow Council's planned relocation will result in increased traffic, noise pollution, vandalism and unpleasant smells.

The proposals form part of the council's draft masterplan for the regeneration of the Town Park – the current site of the popular urban farm.

But sceptics claim the move is really a money-making exercise for the authority, pointing to the potential six-figure sum offered by children's television production company Handle & Spout to make a documentary series about the attraction but only on condition that it is relocated.

Teacher Tim Clark has been instrumental in galvanising public resistance to the plans, sending out leaflets to every home in his neighbourhood advising people of the potential impact of relocation.

"There are so many reasons why these proposals are misconceived," he said. "Increased traffic congestion, the destruction of trees, increases in litter, light pollution, the likelihood of increased vandalism and anti-social behaviour, to name a few."

PET IT BE: Opponents to the relocation plans make their point with a demonstration at Pets Corner on Tuesday (photo: TSV2STK/01)

He also said the council has failed to consult residents about the plans, opting only to publicise proposals at various locations. "Could it be that it knew that we would oppose the plans?" he asked.

Former councillor Paul Bellairs, who also lives in Altham Grove, said everyone in his street opposed the move, but a council spokesman said existing facilities at Pets Corner need to be improved and claimed the current site offered little scope for expansion.

"We are a long way off any final decisions being made and the council will ensure that all comments from the public are considered," he said.

Flag tribute to soldier

A FLAG will fly at half mast outside Harlow's council offices tomorrow (Friday) when Private Robert Foster, the soldier killed by friendly fire in Afghanistan, is laid to rest.

Council chiefs confirmed the flag, emblazoned with the council emblem, will be lowered outside the Civic Centre as a mark of respect to the 19-year-old from Great Plumtree, Harlow.

Private Foster and two comrades, Aaron McClure (19) from Ipswich and John Thumble (21) from Chelmsford, died when an American plane bombed their position during close quarter fighting on August 23.

Events surrounding the tragic mistake are subject to a full military investigation.

Private Foster's funeral will take place at Harlow's Parndon Wood Crematorium.

GIRL, 10, IS KIDNAPPED

A 10-YEAR-OLD Harlow girl was left bound and gagged with stockings this week by a man who kidnapped her from a holiday caravan in St Osyth. The girl, from Brockles Mead, managed to free herself and raise the alarm after being dumped in a public toilet on another site 90 miles away in Great Yarmouth.

NIGHTMARE DAY TRIP

A DAY trip to Belgium turned into a nightmare for three elderly Harlow widows when they got lost and missed their coach back to the hover-port – all for the sake of chocolate! Friends Margaret Beckett (72), Ethel Davies (73) and Florrie Holden (78) lost their way when they left a famous confectionary shop in Bruges.

MINISTER JOINS HEATING PROTEST

HOUSING minister Mr John Stanley has added his voice to the protest over Brockles Mead's controversial communal heating system. The latest row concerns would-be house purchasers who are being asked to sign a contract by Harlow Council linking them to the scheme. This means even house owners must agree to pay council heating costs and cannot choose their own heating system.

Putting the dampers on a hair-raising crew!

WITH the subject of swimming featuring in this week's Nostalgia, it gives us the opportunity to show this quiff-tastic picture of Brays Grove School pupils heading off for a swimming lesson in the 1950s.

The lads have got the Krays-era London mob look pretty much down to a tee, although the towels do detract from it slightly!

Are you in the picture? And do you have memories of life at Brays Grove in decades past? Write to us with your memories.

A splashback to Latton Mill pool

WE were awash with swimming memories in Nostalgia in July and among the interesting pictures we published was one from regular correspondent John Sapsford.

Taken in the 1930s, it showed his cousin, Elsie Snell, with an unknown friend, showing swimming trophies won in a gala at the old Latton Mill pool.

Thanks to reader Pat Brooks, of Herons Wood, Harlow, we can now identify the mystery young lady as her aunt Nancy Fairbanks.

Nancy is shown here, far right, on the day of her wedding to Arthur Fairbanks, and Mrs Brooks is the bridesmaid. She said: "Like Elsie Snell, Nancy lived in Garden Terrace and she lived there with her parents, sisters Elsie and Dorothy, and brothers Hubert – my father – and Bob. Some time around 1936, they moved to Manor Road when the houses there were built.

"After marrying, Nancy and Arthur moved to New Southgate and later to Wiltshire. Nancy died in 2003, aged 88."

Our other picture, near right, was also supplied by Mrs Brooks and shows Mrs Woolmore who ran the outdoor pool at Latton Mill, which was alongside the River Stort and used its water. The man is presumably her husband.

Brenda Thompson, of Ashworth Place, also sent memories of the pool: "My friends and I spent a lot of time there in the 1950s, swimming and picnicking. I remember it being closed down after my brother's friend, Joe Jennings, caught polio and was in hospital for some time. Fortunately, he recovered."

Magic days at movies

BACK to the topic of movies and, firstly, a correction: we learn that the Harlow Odeon manager we referred to as Suzy Hunt recently was actually called Lucy.

Vicarage Wood resident Bridget McAlpine recalls: "Lucy was a very interesting character and possibly the first female cinema manager in the country. She was married to Les, a carpenter, and they lived in Broomfield with their two children."

Rivermill resident Jean Peacock also got in touch with her memories of the West Gate cinema's heyday.

"My friends and I would go to the Saturday morning show and were members of 'the Odeon Brigade'. There were always different things going on before the shows and my friend Katie and I once entered a talent contest and won an ice-cream for coming second.

"When I was 15 I had a boyfriend whose father was editor of what was then the main local paper in Harlow and we used to get complimentary tickets.

"The cinema was always packed and I can remember going to see The Great Escape and having to stand for the whole film as there were no seats."

But while others have recalled ugly scenes in The Regal between mods and rockers, Mrs Peacock recalls a lighter atmosphere at the Odeon.

"On Sunday afternoons, you would have the mods sitting on one side of the cinema and the rockers on the other and there was always a lot of banter between us and it was really quite funny" she said.

I will never give up on my quest to find the truth

TIMELINE

MARCH 31, 2001: Meat factory worker Stuart attends a party at Michael Barrymore's Roydon home and is found unconscious in the swimming pool. He dies at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital. A post mortem examination shows he had serious injuries

SEPTEMBER 2002: The inquest into his death records an open verdict

JANUARY 2003: Police investigate whether Stuart's injuries were caused at PAH rather than at the party; this was soon ruled out

OCTOBER 2003: Mr Barrymore moves to New Zealand

JANUARY 2006: Mr Barrymore returns to England to appear in Celebrity Big Brother. Afterwards, he talks to Stuart's father Terry, who denied press speculation he had absolved the entertainer of blame and had received payment for the interview, saying it was simply a means to get justice

JUNE 14, 2007: Mr Barrymore and two other men are arrested on suspicion of murder and serious sexual assault and released on police bail

SEPTEMBER 10, 2007: Mr Barrymore is told at Harlow Police Station he will not face charges relating to Stuart's death and is released along with the other two suspects

THE father of Stuart Lubbock has vowed he will not let his son down in his quest to expose the truth of what really happened on the night he died.

Terry Lubbock was speaking after three men, including TV entertainer Michael Barrymore, were told they would not be charged with any offences relating to the Harlow man's death.

Father-of-two Stuart (31) of Great Brays, was found floating in the pool of Mr Barrymore's Roydon home six years ago.

He was found to have suffered serious sexual injuries and the drugs ecstasy and cocaine were in his system.

Mr Barrymore (55) and two other men were arrested in June on suspicion of his murder and sexual assault.

After answering bail on Monday, they were told they would not be charged due to a lack of evidence.

Speaking to the Star, Mr Lubbock described the latest series of events as a rollercoaster ride: "At first I was gutted they were not pressing charges but I got it on good authority that police were getting closer and I cannot praise the team enough; they have been great and worked with great integrity."

"I'm not letting my Stuart down - he has given me strength to carry on and find out the truth."

Mr Lubbock now wants a public inquiry opened to look into the case and the first investigation which, he claims, saw vital evidence missed.

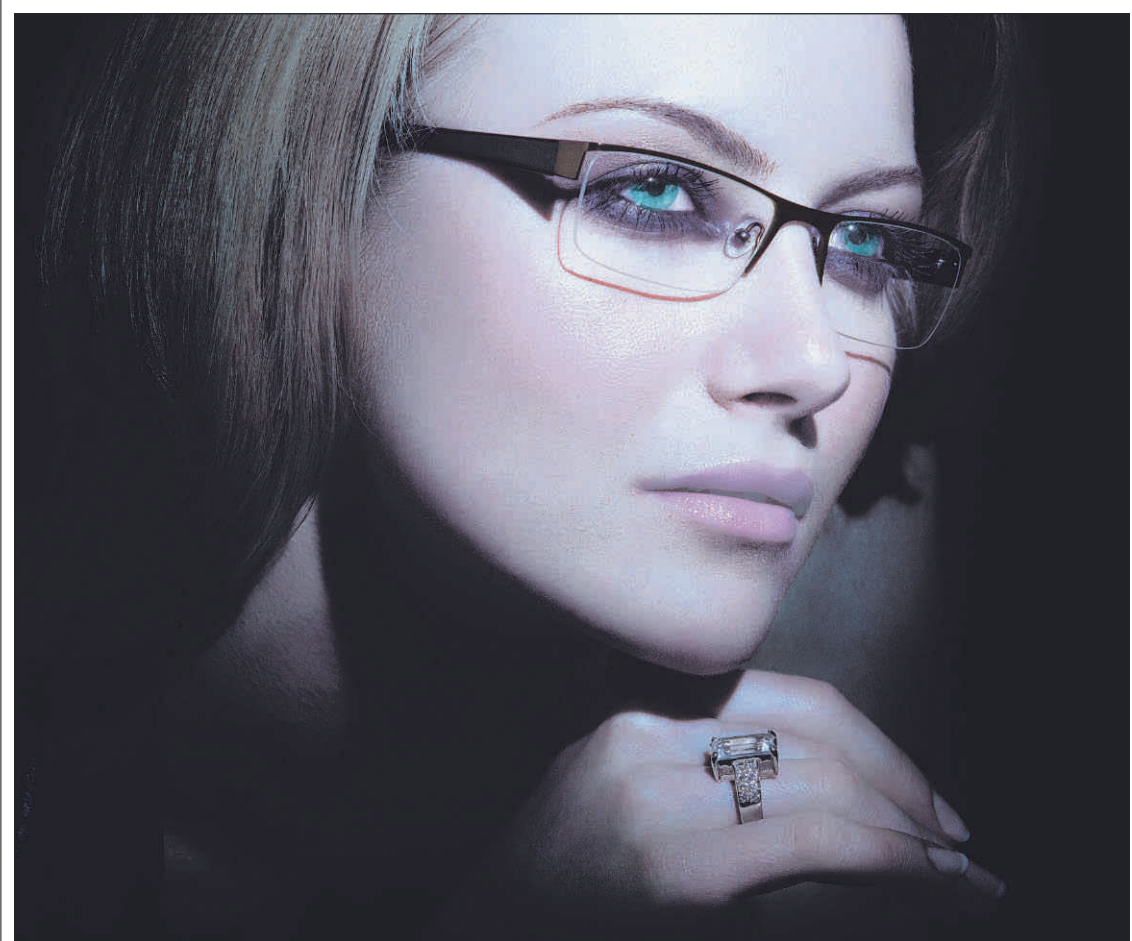

Senior investigating officer Detective Superintendent Gareth Wilson said he was committed to finding out the truth.

"Stuart Lubbock received very serious injuries the night he died and the evidence arising from our current investigation suggests they occurred at the address in Roydon," he said.

"I am convinced somebody knows what has happened and I hope their conscience, or their obligation to do the right thing, will eventually prevail and they will come forward with information."

DETERMINED: Terry Lubbock with a photograph of his son Stuart whose body was found floating in the swimming pool at the former Roydon home of Michael Barrymore, left

Councillors join craze to receive

THERE are times in a journalist's life, in between the routine and mundane tasks of the day, when the mind wanders.

In these fleeting moments, one thinks of what marvellous stories could be committed to print, if only they were true or, in some cases, could be proved.

Sometimes we dream up headlines we would love see appear but know are highly unlikely ever to see the light of day.

Therefore, it's something of a career-defining moment that I can type the following words knowing them to be accurate and having confidence that legal action will not be taken: "John Paul Goddard has spanked Lorna Spenceley".

In case you're not au fait with these local personalities, Mrs Spenceley is the current chairwoman of Harlow Council – the town's first citizen, in other words – and Mr Goddard is an independent councillor who not so long ago was deputy leader of the Tory group.

On top of that bombshell, I can also report Andrew Johnson, who leads Harlow Council's Conservatives, has tickled fellow councillor Lee Dangerfield who, I might add, is a married man.

If you're thinking such revelations should land me a job on The Sun, hold on because

By

these titbits are merely a taster of a bizarre internet world which has already widely embraced by the country's teens – Facebook.

An internet networking site originally from (you guessed it) America, Facebook is a unique way of keeping in touch with friends, finding old ones and making new.

Like the teenagers who comprise the lion's share of its members, it is a community which boasts its own unconventional vocabulary. Among its many eccentricities are tools which allow you to, for example, spank, tickle, poke, sucker-punch, bitch-slap, throw a sheep at or moon someone you know – all strange euphemisms for saying hello.

Members may also join countless 'groups' of like-minded people – such as "Save Harlow College" or "Boris for Mayor of London" – and update their 'status' to broadcast live to the world what they are up to at any particular time: "Andrew Johnson is preparing for a group meeting", to quote a recent example.

In addition to that, everyone's profile page features a space called "The Wall" on which other members of the community can write messages, poke fun or leave graffiti.

Members can also upload photographs of themselves or others.

The Facebook phenomenon has been in the news of late with tales of some employers banning its use in the workplace, while others make keen use of it to secretly check up on their staff and job applicants.

Perhaps inevitably, political parties are now jumping on the bandwagon. Recently, the Liberal Democrats – often mocked for having the oldest leader in mainstream politics – made a big fuss about their MPs being more down with the kids than any others, with 40 per cent of them on Facebook compared with a dismal 12 and 13 per cent, respectively, for Conservative and Labour MPs. Apparently, even 66-year-old Sir Menzies Campbell has his own page, should you want to find it.

For the Conservatives, on an incessant quest to modernise, it is clearly catch-up time. But in Harlow, it seems Tory councillors need no encouragement to join the Facebook race.

Research by the Star reveals the blues to be the town's Facebook kings, with four councillors and their prospective Parliamentary candidate all proudly featured. As well as Commons hopeful Robert Halfon, councillors Andrew Johnson, Simon Carter, Nick Churchill and Lee Dangerfield are all members.

By contrast only two Lib Dem councillors, Mrs Spenceley and group leader Chris Millington, are to be found, and Labour

the online a spanking

really lets the side down with not a hide nor hair to be seen of any of its councillors, nor MP Bill Rammell.

But the Star has trawled the net to bring you the following compendium of hot gossip from the world of local politics.

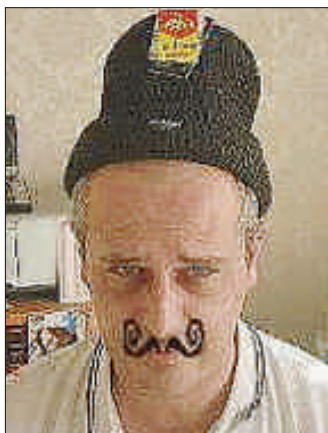

John Paul Goddard, who was Harlow's very own Tory boy until he suddenly quit the party earlier this year is now a member of groups including "Tories are stupid, throw rocks at them", "F*** the Daily Mail" and "The Gok Wan Appreciation Society".

Despite hoping one day to become a primary school teacher, he has his own "stripper name" of Diamond Fluffyfire and, having taken an online purity test, is rated as a "colossal deviant".

"I used to love this job more than life itself," he complains in his profile, referring to his hobby of being a councillor. "Now I can't wait to get away from it. I got into politics to help improve people's lives but have discovered that change comes in excruciatingly small and slow increments and am fed up of sitting in rooms and meetings talking a lot but achieving little." Could this mean a by-election in Summers and Kingsmoor soon? You read it here first! Meanwhile, Nick Churchill, another S&K councillor, has been dared to "wear underwear on his head and pretend to be a ninja". His status, at the time of writing, explains that he is "at home doing a survey on Volvic water". The disposition of his underwear is not revealed.

Lee Dangerfield may still be a Tory – his political views are described as "very Conservative", in fact – but that hasn't stopped him sucker-punching his group leader and roundhouse-kicking Mr Halfon.

And glance down a bit from the picture of

him proudly posing with former party leader Michael Howard and you'll find the photograph reproduced here – oh, and the fact that his stripper name is Bunny Amberjugs. Andrew Johnson walks all over his party's anti-airline environmental credentials by boasting of having visited 137 cities around the world, while in an intriguing wall post Mr Churchill asks him: "Will you hurry up and sort your tank out m8, I have a guppy glut here."

In the Liberal camp, Chris Millington has a pink flamingo in his imaginary garden while Lorna Spenceley, despite famously favouring a tricycle as her mode of transport, announces that her favourite TV show is Top Gear. She also reveals herself to be a member of the "Declan Curry (of BBC Breakfast) appreciation society" and that she used to help her communist father deliver The Daily Worker.

Robert Halfon, in an otherwise straight-laced profile, admits one of his favourite books is by infamous Nazi architect Albert Speer.

Chris Ford, while no longer a councillor, warrants a special mention. Another former Tory, who unsuccessfully stood as an independent in Old Harlow earlier this year, Mr Ford boasts of being a member of the "jacuzzi floosy club" – and there are pictures to prove it – along with John Paul Goddard. Search for any of the council's top officers, though, and you'll have less luck. A spokesman explained: "Staff mustn't access any inappropriate material, such as pornography, and there are certain sites that are automatically blocked [from council computers] which include social networking sites and chat rooms."

"To our knowledge, we haven't had any requests for access to these sites from staff." Well, all that may change now they've seen the world they are missing out on. Whoever thought politics could be such fun?

Pothole Patrol

THE Star today launches Pothole Patrol, a feature to warn readers about gaping holes in the town's road network before they damage their cars by discovering the craters themselves.

To start the weekly watch is a nasty little number in Kitson Way, off Fourth Avenue, near to the mini-roundabout. Coupled with cracked asphalt, the seemingly harmless hole is perfectly positioned to envelop your driver's side front wheel on approach and rattles cars to the core. So beware, you have been warned!

Do you know of any holes we should name and shame in Pothole Patrol? Email sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk or call (01279) 400577.

Cyclist hurt in 'pothole' fall

A CYCLIST suffered broken bones and severe lacerations when he was thrown from his bike by a poorly maintained Harlow cycle track.

By JIM TANFIELD

tanfieldj@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Paul Kane (49) was catapulted over his handlebars when his front wheel struck a pothole on the Church Langley Way cycle lane near the Tesco store.

He suffered an eight-inch gash to his head which required 11 stitches, broke three ribs and, most seriously, suffered a fractured sternum in the fall shortly after 6pm last Wednesday.

He was taken to Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital, where he remained until Monday.

The Mallards Rise resident, an electrical engineer for EDF Energy, has been unable to work since the accident and was put on a nebuliser to breathe properly and avoid infection.

Wife Debbie said Mr Kane had been on a ride with their son Barry (25) when he was hurt: "Paul's a really proficient cyclist but there was simply nothing he could do – his front wheel stuck in the hole and threw him off. His chest hit the handlebars and then his head hit the concrete."

"This is 100 per cent the fault of the council, whose job it is to maintain these routes; it's the usual story in Church Langley – nothing is maintained properly.

"He wasn't going fast but he just didn't stand a chance – we are going to be seeking compensation for this as Essex County Council has not been doing the job the taxpayer has been paying it for."

Mrs Kane also thanked two passers-by who stopped to help.

A County Hall spokesman said the track was not a cycle lane, despite the area concerned being clearly marked on the Harlow Council cycle track network map.

The county council has, however, confirmed the receipt of a claim for damages from Mrs Kane.

Games day has health and charity at heart

RUM TUM TUGGERS: Big-hearted children joined in the charity fun at the North Weald branch of the nursery.

Arties Olympic Event was organised to raise money for the British Heart Foundation. Each child had taken a sponsorship form home and asked friends and family to help.

The games included a warm-up session, followed by a tricky assault course. Parachute games were enjoyed alongside a picnic before the steady-handed had a go at a traditional egg and spoon race.

Nursery spokeswoman Linsey Brown said: "We have had a good response from parents, many of whom dug out their trainers ready to take part in all the fun games."

"We hope that by having this event we are raising money to help the fight against heart and circulatory disease, which is the UK's biggest killer, whilst having fun as well as encouraging families to take part."

The nursery hopes to raise more than £200.

BURNT MILL: The First Avenue school is home to its own Kingpin in the shape of a Year 11 pupil.

Ten-pin bowling maestro Lee Waterman, pictured right, recently took part in the United Games in Austria and, despite being one of the youngest competitors, he secured a silver medal in an event for the 15–18 age range.

Deputy headteacher Paul Williams said: "Lee is known for being a conscientious young man who is fully committed to his chosen sport but never letting his obvious success go to his head. "He remains modest about his achievements despite the huge natural talent he obviously possesses; a model for any other budding sportsman."

A lot of laughs for nursery fundraiser event

LEAPFROG DAY NURSERY:

A day of fun and laughter ended in a bumper collection for a worthy cause. The Pinnacles nursery invited its youngsters and their parents to the fundraiser for children's cancer charity CLIC Sargent.

An entertainer made sure everyone had a smile on their face and the lucky ones scooped prizes on the tombola. Races and games took place in the sunshine and a barbecue added some sizzle to the occasion, raising a whopping £600.

Nursery nurse Vicky Peglar said: "It was a really great day and we had lots of fun and loads of people who don't attend the nursery came along and gave their support as well."

Park proposals

SIR, Last Wednesday there was the latest poorly advertised consultation exercise on the design for Harlow's Town Park before submission to the National Heritage Fund for a £10m grant to pay for the work. From the original proposals the living bridge and boating lake have gone, keeping and refurbishing Spurriers House and the bandstand.

The skate park is being moved to behind the Scout hut under a separate project paid for by Harlow Council with some other grants while Pets Corner is being moved to a more remote location near the adventure playground and the GPCA building is being demolished.

The latter two ideas are to make way for a large arena on the current showground site and a larger café next to Spurriers. This would give us two arenas, the bandstand for free concerts and the large arena for paying customers. It is envisaged 6-12 paying concerts would be held each year, thus generating income to maintain the park.

The main reason given for moving Pets Corner is that the music would upset the animals. Currently there are 4-6 concerts a year in the bandstand, fireworks night and the Town Show which do not seem to upset the animals. There are no animals left overnight in the paddocks so these would still be available for evening concerts. The enlarged café is unlikely to make a profit as it is likely that it will only be open at summer weekends and possibly evenings. We could end up with an arena with no concerts and a posh café with no customers for most of the time, yet Pets Corner – the most visited part of the park in survey after survey – is being moved from its central position to a peripheral location. It makes more sense to refurbish Pet's Corner where it is so that it blends in better with Spurriers House and build a redesigned café on the GPCA site.

As part of this plan, the giant redwood next to Spurriers is being chopped down to create a vista into the park. This 160-year old tree is arguably the best and rarest in the park.

Our councillors are under the impression that the bulk of the town's residents are happy with this latest plan. If you disagree then let the council know before it is too late.

Save the trees

SIR, Like many thousands of Harlow residents past and present we love the Town Park trees and the hundreds of birds they attract. The number and variety must be almost unrivalled for a public park in Britain apart from places like Kew Gardens.

Those by the river were planted as part of Henry VIII's hunting

I'll work to safeguard future of The Square

SIR, Further to last week's report about The Square being demolished, I would like to make it clear to residents that Harlow Council has not entered into any agreement with English Partnerships or any housing association to demolish the buildings or redevelop the site.

The council may have been made aware of their ambitions but can express neither support nor opposition to them as the scheme will be subject to planning consent.

Our planning and housing teams receive many approaches from potential developers each week seeking advice and general guidance on proposals. Sometimes the schemes come to fruition, sometimes they do not.

In statements to the media, the housing association involved has stated that we no longer have any need for the type of accommodation that is currently provided at The Angle. I would like to make it clear that this is not the case and that hostel accommodation is still urgently needed and a priority for the council.

The decision regarding the future of The Square rests with Essex County Council. Personally I am a supporter of The Square, its history and its aims and I will work with others to ensure that its future is safeguarded.

Harlow Council has always worked to ensure there is a forum for debate and for people to openly express their views. It provided a venue for a public meeting, which I attended, where the issue was discussed with our MP Bill Rammell. Harlow Council also set up and facilitates the Harlow Youth Council which is a valuable voice for young people.

Over the past few months Harlow Council has assisted with and progressed a number of youth projects including the skate park, the youth café and the Town Park youth concert. My fellow joint leader, Chris Millington, and I meet regularly with young people including the youth councillors to ensure we are kept informed of their views and concerns.

Councillor Tony Durcan
joint leader, Harlow Council

No surprise

SIR, News that The Square is to be closed, demolished and the area redeveloped will come as no surprise to the young people left out on the streets since it ceased functioning as a venue.

It will certainly come as no surprise to those who turned up to the public meeting back in March when Essex County Council began the process of pulling the plug on the building.

The county councillors and officers present that evening flatly denied two major accusations that came out of that angry meeting – the first that The Square was closing and the second that the purpose was to sell the building to developers who were already displaying various drawings on what the new town centre will eventually look like. And yet that is exactly what will happen.

It seems to me that removing the bars from The Square was the first stage of winding down the venue so that the developers wouldn't have to replace like for like.

Essex County Council has not exactly set a shining example to the youth of the town. They have shown how powerless and rotten local democracy is and have reinforced the idea that getting involved in politics at all is a waste of time.

Above all it has let down the entire Harlow community. Where we once had a youth facility the envy of the entire country, it will soon be reduced to faded photographs in Harlow Museum, memories of a better time when the town's development took into account young people's needs rather than ignoring them.

Steve Drewett
Bishopsfield, Harlow

Jewel in crown

SIR, I worked at The Square for some 23 years until two years ago when, frankly, the political correctness and no-tooth attitude of the higher management of Essex County Council's youth services finally drove me away.

The fact The Square has survived all these years is nothing short of a miracle and is primarily due to the huge efforts of frontline staff and dedicated users, despite the way the building has been forced down a road of ageist segregation. It is most fortunate that many of the excluded users care so much for it even now that they are prepared to fight for its survival.

I disagree with the description of the building as "ailing". It is not and never has been; to the contrary it has always been a hotbed of musical artistic talent and a stalwart of the alternative musical community.

The Square, should it be demolished, would be a terrible loss to this town and the surrounding areas. It was voted best small music venue in the entire country a few years ago by NME. At a time when we, as a town, are looking at how amazing we are we should realistically look at The Square as one of the shining jewels in the Essex crown.

To lose The Square is unthinkable. No-one denies the need for new housing but let us hope that a new purpose-built venue will be included in the regeneration plans or developed with private money should the site be demolished. Harlow with no purpose-built music venue would be an absolute disaster and a betrayal of the huge musical talent in the area.

Bryan Saunders
Primrose Field, Harlow

forest while those by the bandstand were planted when Spurriers was a country estate. The poplars by the adventure playground were planted when the Town Park was created and we were delighted when the oak sapling was planted as a dedication to Harold Lander, founder of Harlow Polymath, who loved to sit and rest in the quiet of the park.

The mix of old and new trees is a testament to the original vision of the New Town which kept the best of the old and mixed it with the new. But now we find Harlow Council wants to cut down some of our oldest trees to make the Town Park better.

We are appalled that the beautiful sequoia tree by Spurriers is earmarked for removal so the council can hold bigger and better "corporate events" down by the bandstand. Then there will be mass destruction of mature trees up and around the playground to accommodate the bigger, better Pets Corner. Will that new oak and the silver birch survive?

This is vandalism of the worst kind and is an absolute disgrace, especially when the world is trying to become more environmentally friendly. We must think again; the trees of Harlow Town Park are our history and, if left alone, will continue to be our living history.

We cannot allow the council to cut down our oldest residents.

US co-operation

SIR, In connection with the shameful refusal of the US to provide witnesses for the inquest into the death of Harlow soldier Robert Foster, Bill Rammell is quoted as saying he believes "we should do everything in our power to bring about full co-operation from the Americans".

I presume it is within the Government's power to threaten to suspend military co-operation with the US unless they co-operate with the British judicial system.

Take it away

SIR, Through the medium of your pages I would like to address this letter to the two young men who were sitting on the bench near the heliport on Friday eating a McDonalds. One of the large paper bags that had contained part of the meal was blowing along the cycle track and as you made no attempt to retrieve it I picked it up and returned it to you with a polite request that you take the empties with you when you left.

Needless to say, when I returned 30 minutes later you had gone but your rubbish had not.

It surprises me that you had the energy to carry this enormous meal all the way from Broad Walk to the place that you chose to devour it. Having taken on all those calories you surely should have had enough energy to carry the empty packaging to the nearest bin or even home.

What will it take to make you understand this is unacceptable? The good people of Harlow are appalled to think that you have no consideration for them and the environment. We do not want your rubbish. Next time you have a takeaway think about others and take the empties home.

John Curry

Too few places

SIR, I have just received a leaflet from Harlow Council informing me of a meeting at St John's

ARC about the renewal of Old Harlow and three other areas.

It invites all residents of Old Harlow to attend the meeting but on reading further I see there are only 100 places available and these must be booked in advance.

What about the rest of the residents of Old Harlow? Will they not be allowed to attend and give their views?

Why not a bigger venue so that more people can attend, or is that not what is wanted? The fewer that attend, the fewer objections to having the heart ripped out of Old Harlow to make way for more houses.

Perhaps this is also why a number of residents have not even received the leaflet.

Superkid Kacey is our VIP guest

THE star of the Harlow Star Superkids 2007 competition received the VIP treatment when she and her parents were invited to our head office this week to receive their prizes.

Kacey May Daniels, along with mum Amanda and dad Justin, of Joyners Field, Harlow, were presented with a framed print of her winning photograph by Star editor Ken Morley at our head office in Hertford.

Kacey polled the highest number of readers' votes to win the 0-9 months category as well as the overall title. In addition to the framed print, she won a keepsake cast of her hands or feet donated by babyprints.co.uk.

Proud mum Amanda said: "I think it's her big, beautiful eyes and her smile that wins people over. We're over the moon that she won."

Also invited to the ceremony were category winners Brooke Elle Harvey (10-18 months), from Cheshunt, and Jocelyn Addicott

(19-36 months), from Manuden. Leighanie Hanley, who won the 3-6 years category, was unable to attend.

More than 1,200 children were entered for Superkids 2007 which was run by Star publisher Herts & Essex Newspapers.

Bus firm under fire for delays on school run

A TRANSPORT firm awarded a contract to drive children to a school 16 miles from Harlow has blamed teething problems for delays.

Since the start of the new term, nine youngsters from the town who attend Stansted Mountfit-chet School have been taken there by operator Stansted Transit under a new contract awarded by Essex County Council.

But just a few days in and pupils and parents have complained about a number of problems with the service including late arrivals, non-arrivals and drivers who speak little English.

Patrick Stuart, of Longbanks,

By BEN WILKINSON
Chief Reporter
wilkinsonb@hertsessexnews.co.uk

claimed things were so bad he had to drive his 15-year-old grandson, who attends the school's special needs department, into school himself after the bus failed to turn up.

He said the bus, which picks up around 20 children, was an hour late on Thursday and even later on Friday.

"The previous transport arrangements were brilliant but now they've given the whole contract to this company and it's a nightmare," he said.

"It's not just the punctuality issue. One morning my daughter asked the driver for his ID just to be on the safe side and he pulled out a yellow high-visibility jacket. He couldn't understand a word she was saying."

But Stansted Transit's manager Andre Norris said any late arrivals were just "teething problems".

"Last year they all got taxis, so when they go from that to a bus I think they find it a bit hard to swallow," he said.

Mr Norris added that his buses were used by the public as well, making public transport more accessible and helping the environment.

And he said his firm was the largest bus operator in the area with a good reputation.

Norman Hume, cabinet member for highways and transport at County Hall, also put the disruption down to teething problems.

"We have been working closely with the school and the operator to rectify any issues," he added.

The battle won by 'The Few'

BEFORE you next put on your England shirt and settle down to watch your football heroes play, take a moment to look up at the sky and remember one of the proudest days in our nation's history.

This Saturday will be the 67th anniversary of the end of the Battle of Britain during which Royal Air Force pilots fought tooth-and-nail to defeat the German Luftwaffe.

The failure of Nazi Germany to destroy Britain's air force, or break the spirit of the British people is considered by many to be Hitler's first major defeat from which the German air force never fully recovered.

Much of this famous victory has been attributed to the RAF's squadrons of Spitfires, planes which were faster and more agile than their German counterparts.

Despite having fewer aircraft and trained fighter pilots, the Spitfire arguably gave the

as the battle raged on in the skies above Britain: "Never in the field of human conflict was so much owed

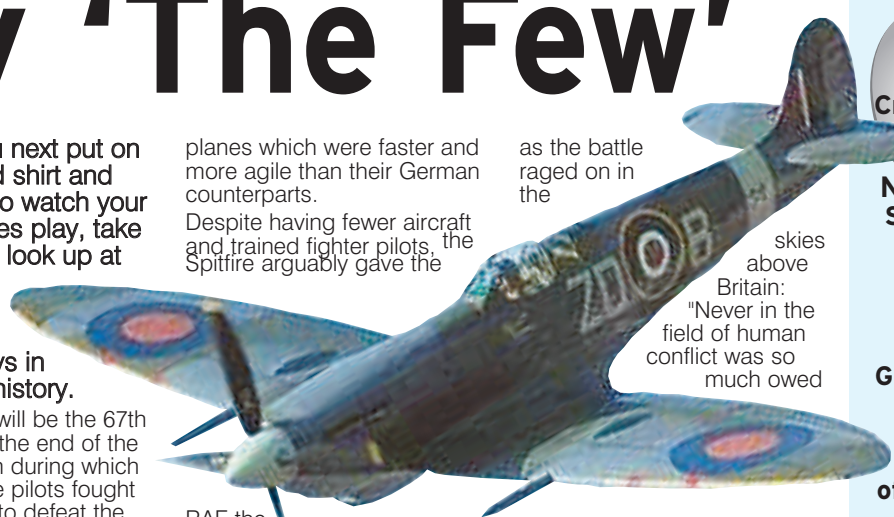

RAF the edge.

But the heroism of the men in the cockpit cannot be underestimated, nor can their sacrifice – over 1,500 RAF personnel lost their lives.

As British wartime Prime Minister Winston Churchill said in his famous speech to the nation on August 21st, 1940, by so many to so few."

So next time you chance to see someone collecting money for an RAF veterans' fund, think carefully of 'The Few' to whom we owe so many of the freedoms we now take for granted and maybe drop a few coins in the collecting tin to show them we still remember.

Calendar sales to aid campaign for troops memorial

A CAMPAIGN to erect a memorial to soldiers of the 1st Battalion Royal Anglian Regiment killed in service in Afghanistan is looking for support in the Harlow area.

Nine soldiers from the battalion – including Private Robert Foster, from Harlow, who was killed last month – have lost their lives in the conflict. More than 50 others have been seriously wounded in the line of duty.

Now Tom Smith, a former member of the battalion, is putting together a 2008 calendar featuring pictures of troops in action to raise money towards the provision of a permanent tribute.

Nicknamed The Vikings, the 1st Battalion is currently deployed in Afghanistan's notorious Helmand Province. Its 600 soldiers are responsible for the northern sector of the province where they defend key locations such as the towns of Sangin and Nowzad and the Kajaki hydro-electric dam from attack.

During the past year they have seen some of the fiercest fighting with the Taliban forces. Mr Smith, who plans to produce 1,000 calendars at a cost of £2,500, is now looking for donations to get the fund-raising project off the ground.

He told the Star: "Our aim is to raise funds for the battalion memorial fund as well as help and support those families and partners who have lost loved ones and to support those wounded in battle."

"On a daily basis the battalion has been engaged with the Taliban forces who continue to try and prevent the establishment of the rule of law and impose their will on the population.

"As well as those soldiers killed, some of the most seriously wounded will have their lives changed. The most serious incidents have included the loss of limbs due to explosive incidents, gunshot wounds and fragmentation wounds from explosive projectiles."

● Anyone wishing to donate to the fund can send a cheque made payable to CB1 Royal Anglian to Tom Smith, 2 Kingston Vale, Royston, Herts SG8 9UG.

Support group offering help to more refugees

A SUPPORT group set up to help refugees who have settled in Harlow has expanded its range of services to meet the needs of the town's burgeoning immigrant communities.

The former Integration Support Group has renamed itself Integration Support Services and has moved premises to the Rainbow Centre in Wych Elm as demand for the help and assistance it provides has spiralled.

Since opening its doors as a weekly drop-in centre at Kingsmoor House two years ago, the volunteer-led group has developed to offer support and advice to migrant workers and their families, as well as asylum seekers from further afield.

The non-profit organisation offers advocacy and interpretation services, emotional and practical support for newcomers to the town, advice on healthcare and employment issues and runs free

English courses.

Founding member Mimosha Matoshi is a former refugee who came to Britain after escaping war-torn Kosovo in January 2000.

"Although we started off as a small support group our numbers have grown over the past two years and we are now able to extend our services," she said.

"Our aim is to help immigrants integrate and engage with existing communities in the town, giving Harlow a rich and diverse cultural heritage."

Bike crash fails to stop triathlon Des

A STRONG man from Harlow who committed himself to taking part in a gruelling triathlon to raise funds for St Clare Hospice has completed his challenge.

Des Norris, of Freshwaters, finished the Ironman UK Triathlon at Sherbourne Castle in Dorset in a time of 12 hours 37 minutes.

He made a good start in the swimming part of the challenge but rain caused problems when it came to the 112-mile bike ride.

"A combination of bad conditions and dry tyres resulted in me having quite a spectacular crash at the six mile mark," he said. "The bike was okay but I suffered cuts to my back, arm and, more seriously, my left hand."

"I managed to stem the bleeding with tape and continue. I ended up completing the ride in six hours and 45 minutes."

Despite his injuries Des then went on to complete the marathon run in four hours and 15 minutes.

The father-of-two, whose partner Nicola was a nurse at St Clare's, is hoping to raise £5,000 for the hospice. "I don't know how much I have raised as it is still coming in, but if anybody else would like to sponsor me there is still time," he said.

Donations can be made at www.justgiving.com/desnorris or by calling (01279) 434852.

Race cash request

ORGANISERS of the Cancer Research UK Race For Life held in Harlow in May are asking competitors to send in their sponsorship money in as soon as possible.

More than 2,000 women took part in the fun run in Harlow Town Park and the charity hopes to raise £161,000.

Organiser Andrea Greig said: "Race For Life is such a unique and inspiring event with women uniting behind the same cause, but the finish line isn't really crossed until we receive everyone's sponsorship money."

Seminar on MS

PEOPLE with multiple sclerosis, their friends, families and carers are invited to a special seminar next week on managing the symptoms of the condition.

The event, at Harlow's Latton Bush Centre in Southern Way from 7pm on Thursday, will feature a range of specialist speakers. To book a place, call 07880 828858.

Mentors appeal

ADULTS who want to make a difference to the lives of children in care are needed to become mentors.

The charity Rainer is looking for volunteers across the county. For details, call (01279) 408370.

Flower power

FANCY a spot of flower arranging? Then why not pop along to a special Harlow Flower Club demonstration at New Life Christian Fellowship in Purford Green tonight (Thursday) from 7.15pm.

Blood donation

BLOOD donor sessions will be held at Harlow's Latton Bush Centre in Southern Way on Sunday from 10am-12.30pm and 2-4.15pm.

Council threat over abandoned trolleys

SUPERMARKETS are being warned they face charges for the retrieval and return of dumped shopping trolleys as Harlow Council steps up its efforts to tackle the eyesore problem.

The authority will exercise legal powers allowing it to levy a £70 charge on local stores for every trolley collected, to cover the cost of its retrieval, storage and return.

About 800 abandoned trolleys are retrieved from the town's streets, green areas and ponds each year – and traders now face the threat of disposal charges should they fail to claim their dumped carts.

The new scheme comes in the wake of 2005's blitz on the problem, when the council constructed a 'trolley mountain' from those retrieved to illustrate the scale of the problem.

Environment and community committee chairwoman Eleanor Macy said: "Dumped trolleys are a big problem in Harlow. They create an eyesore on the environment and are a safety hazard if left around.

"The collection and storage is

By CHRIS MOSS
mossc@hertsessexnews.co.uk costing local taxpayers' money, so it's only right that we should charge the stores for every one we collect.

"However, the people dumping them should also take responsibility. If you take a trolley home, be prepared to take it back, not dump it. If we catch you, we will fine you."

Preventative measures available to stores range from carrying out their own sweeps and collections to modifying the trolleys themselves to prevent customers from removing them from shopping areas.

A spokeswoman for Asda – which has installed an electronic system on its trolleys to prevent them being taken out of the Water Gardens complex by locking their wheels – told the Star: "We have made a huge investment in a Cartronics system to prevent people from taking our trolleys outside a clearly defined boundary.

"We will be doing everything in our power to stop people taking trolleys off-site – each trolley is worth around £50 to the store, so it is a big problem for us when they are removed."

First arrivals at new estate

A COUPLE taking their first tentative steps on the property ladder are the first residents to move into Harlow's £100m Fifth Avenue development.

First-time buyers Kit Fung and Nicola Stonehouse chose a two-bedroom house worth £250,000 at the 27-acre Barratt Homes site as their new home, citing its proximity to the town centre and the rail station as major advantages.

Miss Stonehouse, whose work as an opera singer often requires her to travel, said: "The train provides easy access to London and Stansted Airport, but if we want to avoid the expense of the train, we get a bus to Epping tube station.

"The M11 and M25 are also nearby. Everything is very convenient, with the town centre approximately a five-minute walk away; we've even got a Sainsbury's just up the road."

Barratt sales director Chris Scarborough said: "We are delighted to be celebrating this important moment in the evolution of Fifth Avenue and are particularly pleased that the first residents to move in are first-time buyers."

Lettings boost is a migrants' success story

MIGRANT workers are helping to boost the booming residential lettings market, according to Old Harlow agency Belvoir Properties.

With an increasing number of overseas professionals looking to rent high-quality apartments and houses in the town, the High Street letting and property management specialist has seen a dramatic upturn in trade.

Figures released by Belvoir's head office show the company has seen a 28 per cent growth in network sales nationwide since the turn of the year – helping to provide accommodation for the 600,000 Eastern European workers reported to have entered the country since 2004.

Branch director Paul Harten hopes this will put to bed unfounded speculation that all migrant workers are living ten-to-a-room in council-provided accommodation.

"January this year was our busiest ever," he told the Star. "Currently, over half of our tenants are workers from overseas who have come to the UK to fill important jobs.

"Contrary to the impression often given in the national press about migrants coming over here to pounce off our welfare state, we have found our eastern Europeans to be excellent tenants, always paying rent on time and never giving us problems.

"And it's not only eastern Europeans who are contributing – we have let many properties to professional from India and Africa who tend to work in engineering and IT jobs."

Hoping to clean up for an award

Agency celebrates fifth year in town

AN estate agency celebrating its fifth year of trading in Harlow is confident the proposed regeneration of the town will help boost sales further.

Guardian Residential Sales, based at Adams House in East Gate, has recently launched a new sales board marking the firm's anniversary and is now looking to expand its team of negotiators.

Sales partner Juliette Rainbird said: "The success of the estate agency department at Guardian has been greater than we anticipated and there is a terrific sales team in place which understands the Harlow market and needs of the purchasers.

"With the development and regeneration of the Harlow area, Guardian will continue its success in both selling and letting homes in the area."

Stop yobs who trash game area

POLICE are stepping up patrols in a bid to catch the vandals who are repeatedly wrecking a new baseball pitch.

The privately-funded diamond on playing fields at Northbrooks, Harlow, has become a target for yobs.

The pitch is used for training by the Harlow Greensox, a team formed by Harlow Neighbourhood Watch co-ordinator Albert Hobdell as a way of steering young people away from crime.

Although Harlow Council agreed to the use of the land for the pitch, it will not permit a barrier or fence to be erected as the area is designated a public space.

"It's highly distressing to see," said Mr Hobdell (78). "This has been put there for the benefit of young people but while some of them are making good use of it, others are hell bent on destroying it."

By BEN WILKINSON, Chief Reporter
wilkinsonb@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"If Harlow Council wasn't such a one-horse organisation it would have seen fit to do something about this problem by now like putting a fence up, but instead we just have to sit and watch it get trashed."

Graham Anthony, Essex Police's crime reduction officer for Harlow, called on residents to report the culprits.

"We have stepped up patrols in an effort to catch those responsible and we have spoken with members of the Safer Harlow Partnership to see what else can be done to try and better secure this facility for the future," he said.

"If the present levels of crime continue it's likely that the pitch will become completely unusable so it's important that anyone who can identify those committing the damage gets in touch."

Hospital garden given a whole new lease of life

PATIENTS receiving treatment at the stroke unit of Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital have helped transform its neglected grounds into a blissful botanic oasis.

Originally a standalone ward, the unit moved into the main hospital building two years ago but the grounds outside were allowed to fall into disrepair – until patients hit upon the idea of sprucing up the area.

Lead nurse Patsy Simons said: "The patients wanted to make the grounds into a pleasant garden area for future patients."

"The staff all had a whipround and we bought plants and flowers which the patients have worked hard to plant in our new garden area. We are all delighted with it."

Among those invited to the official opening of the garden were Harlow Council chairwoman Lorna Spenceley and Robert Powell, chairman of the PAH NHS Trust.

Off-roader support for county air ambulance

THE Essex air ambulance is being given ground support in the shape of a sporty 4x4.

Ambulance chiefs have struck a deal with BMW to buy a discounted off-road vehicle which will be used in adverse conditions when the helicopter is unable to respond to a callout.

The new addition, which has been funded by the charity, was picked up this week.

Air ambulance chief operating officer Steve Wheaton said the new addition will bolster the charity's medical presence.

"We were fortunate enough to be able to purchase an ex-demonstration vehicle which reduced commission costs vastly," he said.

"As ever, vehicle whole life costs are a necessary consideration, even more so in this case as it is the people of Essex who are funding the vehicle through the air ambulance charity."

Anyone with information about the break-ins should contact Harlow police on (01279) 641212.

Man cleared of groping girl

A MAN falsely accused of sexually assaulting a teenage girl from Harlow has walked free from court.

Dennis Chapman (48), from Cambridge, was acquitted by a jury at Chelmsford Crown Court on Friday of sexually touching the 13-year-old.

Tayo Adebayo, prosecuting, claimed Mr Chapman was chatting to the girl on a sofa when he put one hand down her top and another hand on her buttock.

Mr Adebayo said the girl then left at which point Mr Chapman told her: "This is our little secret".

Mr Chapman agreed he had been with the girl for about 20 minutes but said the accusation he had touched her was nonsense and that nothing of a sexual nature occurred.

He told the court he could not imagine why the girl would concoct such an allegation.

After the jury returned its verdict of not guilty, Mr Chapman was discharged by the judge.

Firm ready to act on report into foot and mouth probe

REPORTS into July's foot and mouth disease outbreak have highlighted at least five bio-security breaches at a site occupied by a Harlow-based science firm.

Two studies published on Friday highlight violations at the Pirbright site which is shared by the Government-run Institute for Animal Health and vaccine company Merial, which has its UK headquarters at the Harlow Business Park in Roydon Road.

The reports, compiled by the Health and Safety Executive and expert Professor Brian Spratt, do not apportion blame to either occupier but criticise the condition of infrastructure on the site.

Investigators believe the virus was present in a pipe running between the Merial and Government parts of the site and that flooding caused it to flush out. Vehicles which then drove into the flooded area left the site with traces of the virus on tyres.

A Merial spokesman said there was no suggestion the company was responsible for any breaches of security.

"Throughout this period our priority has been to support the authorities to control this outbreak and to determine its cause," he said. "With the publication of these reports our focus now is to implement the recommendations made to us."

Garages and cars targeted

THIEVES stole hundreds of pounds worth of goods in a spate of garage and car raids.

Police are investigating after the flurry of break-ins which saw 16 vehicles and several garages in Harlow ransacked in the past week.

Among the items stolen were golf equipment, bikes, jewellery and laptop computers.

Most of the break-ins took place overnight. Police are now warning homeowners to keep valuables out of sight and secure their doors properly.

Anyone with information about the break-ins should contact Harlow police on (01279) 641212.

Cops search for special recruits

POLICE chiefs are seeking volunteers to make up the numbers of feet on the beat.

Essex Police wants to increase the county's total of special constables from 500 to 1,000.

They want people from all walks of life who are able to give a few hours each month to work alongside regular officers. Applicants must be at least 17 years and nine months old.

CABARET. Chain Reaction theatre group's fundraising cabaret Keep It In 2007 opens tonight (Thursday) and runs until Saturday at Harlow Baptist Church, in Fore Street, from 7.30pm. Musical numbers from the group's previous performances including Godspell can be enjoyed. All proceeds are in memory of the group's founder Rose Ings who died earlier this year. The money will be donated to St Clare Hospice. For tickets, priced £7.50 (£6 concs) call 07947 811744.

SCULPTURE. The excellent exhibition Outside Inside continues in the Gibberd Gallery, at Harlow's The Civic Centre, until September 22. Included in the Friends of Harlow Sculpture Collection's free show are pieces from artists whose other works can be seen throughout the town. The gallery is open from Monday-Friday 9am-5pm and Saturday 9pm-noon.

MUSICAL. The Playhouse theatre's autumn production Bugsy Malone opens tomorrow (Friday) at 7.30pm. A cast of 50 young performers take to the stage for the adaptation of Alan Parker's popular film which includes Paul Williams' catchy tunes including So You Wanna Be a Boxer? and You Give a Little Love. Tickets, available from the box office on (01279) 431945, start at £10 (£8 children) and the show runs until September 28.

MUSIC. Next Friday marks the welcome return of the New Edition Singers to Old Harlow's Victoria Hall Theatre, in Bury Road, with its latest show A Musical Encore. The evening promises a toe-tapping collection of favourites from the quills of composers Rodgers and Hammerstein. The show starts at 8pm and tickets, priced £6, are available from the box office on (01279) 434028 or (01376) 339498.

A bright blaze to end the summer holidays

An environment of arts

MAN'S effect on the environment is the theme of an art show on Sunday. Artist Peter Jarvis (37), pictured above, will be showing and selling his photographs, paintings and prints at Matching Green's The Chequers. Peter, from Little Laver, said: "The textures, colours and shapes of nature are interesting to me and it all fits into a global message – it's not about trying to ignore what's going on in our world, it's more positive than that."

A stint living in the rainforests of Costa Rica was a strong inspiration. The exhibition starts at 6pm with a buffet and wine reception. For details, visit www.eight-infinity.com.

HARLOW Ballet Association's summer presentation, incorporating its 18th choreographic competition was a rich and varied programme featuring 15 new works devised by its young dancers.

This was a captivating selection of romantic ballet and some additional gems for good measure.

Hayley Burns' wonderfully inventive Rhythm Of Life set the tone for the evening, with the music's pulse and theatrical flair captured to perfection. The Thief's Waltz was a delightful composition by Joel Goodman that also provided the setting for his equally clever take on Fagin-style pick-pocketing.

The sparkling invention of the young choreographers came in breathtaking succession. The simple, synchronised grace of Jessica Hardy's Summer Solstice, the neat invention of Sophie Hull's Be Our Guest, Jane Chittock's disco-beat Thunder In My Heart and the sultry sexiness of Cassandra Mason's Latino Adventure all deserve mention.

Charley-Anne Mason and Amy Johansen showed maturity beyond

REVIEW

A FESTIVAL OF ROMANTIC BALLET
Harlow Ballet Association, The Playhouse

their years as they captured the sentiments and rhythms of Mariah Carey's Hero and Elton John's Your Song.

Outstanding and quite rightly winning this year's choreographic award was Jessica Gudgeon for Danza di Estivo; Edvard Greig met disco in this bright, colourful interpretation brimming with energy. There was just time to catch breath before the second half and a change of style as the talented ensemble moved into classical mode for the romantic part of the performance.

The young dancers' skills and precision brought the 19th century tradition to sparkling life and solo performances by two returning members were show-stoppers. Joe Bishop demonstrated his perfect control of Conrad's flamboyant solo from Le Corsaire and Stephanie Stopp captured the emotion of the Dying Swan to perfection.

Les Sylphides provided a beautifully produced finale that left the audience entranced. What better way to mark the end of the summer holidays than with this fine achievement?

sound check with Chris Moss

WELCOME to Sound Check, the Star's new weekly column on the local music scene featuring band profiles, gigs and demo reviews. If you want your band to feature, call Chris Moss on (01270) 400575.

FORMED from the ashes of local band The Lauries, affable cheeky cockney upstarts Monday Arms combine spiky, staccato guitar attacks with wry lyrics about the various scrapes they've got into. After locking themselves away in a rehearsal studio for several months to perfect their new set, the boys are itching to bring their revitalised sound to the live circuit, starting with a high-profile gig at the Hertford Marquee tomorrow (Friday) night.

Frontman Ollie told Sound Check the band couldn't wait to hit the stage again.

"We've changed our sound since we were The Lauries, giving it a punkier edge inspired by our love of The Jam and The Specials, so it'll be interesting to see how it goes down," he said.

Monday Arms are due on stage at 7.30pm tomorrow (Friday) at the Hertford Marquee, in Railway Street, Hertford. Tickets are available on the door or from www.seetickets.com priced £6.

UNLIKELY to fall foul of the Trades Description Act, all you need to know about Michael Davis's brainless yet enjoyable action flick is handily summed up in its title.

Little more than an arbitrary compendium of some of the most absurdly appetising action scenes ever committed to celluloid (opening with a crazed shoot-out in which a hit man's stray bullet severs an umbilical chord), the emphasis here is very much on a style-over-substance ethic that takes fashionably ironic detachment to a new extreme.

The plot (and the term is used here very loosely, given that the entire film is inspired by a scene from John Woo's tough cop movie Hard Boiled in which Chow-Yun Fat is depicted bristling with weapons and clutching a baby) centres around enigmatic, carrot-munching passer-by Mr Smith (Clive Owen), who walks smack into the middle of a fire-fight when attempting to save a pregnant woman from an aforementioned assassin.

Predictably going into labour just after he seems to have saved her, she's then killed by a stray bullet and he finds himself forced to look after the newborn baby.

Unfortunately bereft of breasts, he turns to lactating prostitute Donna (Monica Bellucci) to feed the little tyke but ends up getting a lot more than he bargained for when gun-toting mob boss Hertz (Paul Giamatti) pitches up with a mission to kill the tot and anyone who gets in his way.

Bonkers plot aside (Bellucci pleasuring a mobster behind some bins to raise cash towards the purchase of a bullet-proof vest for the baby is one scene sure to make you choke on your popcorn), this is a gloriously gory, one-dimensional treat sure to appeal to those who like their storylines to come a distant second to guns, blood and bizarre sexual practices.

LEWD, crude and more than a little bit rude, the latest gross-out teen comedy to cross the Atlantic from the team who brought us this summer's surprise box office hit Knocked Up is sure to set the pulses of hormonal teen audiences racing. The tale follows a day in the awkward lives of geeky teens Seth (Jonah Hill) and Evan (Michael Cera) – clearly based on the co-writers Seth Rogan and Evan Goldberg's existence as adolescents – who set out on a mission to buy alcohol for a cool kid's end-of-year party after telling him they've scored fake IDs.

Unfortunately, they only said they could get the booze so they'd get invites and have to rely on even nerdier pal Fogell (Christopher Mintz Plasse) to make the purchases.

Unable to stray more than 100 yards from home, Kale takes to watching his neighbours from his bedroom and gets a nasty surprise when he sees what he thinks is a murder – but is it merely symptomatic of his increasing cabin fever?

TREES OUTSIDE THE ACADEMY

Thurston (album, Ecstatic Peace!)

Eschewing the amplified post-rock ingenuity of his day job, sonic wizard Thurston Moore takes a surprisingly tender electro-acoustic approach on his first song-based solo effort since 1995's Psychic Hearts. And what songs they are – from the languid, majestic drawl of bluesy opener Frozen Gtr to the upbeat Dadaisms of Fri/end via the fleeting seduction of brittle ballad Honest James, Moore visits territories unexplored even within Sonic Youth's sprawling canon. But neither will Youth purists be disappointed, with the effortless guitar-shredding on Wonderful Witches and instrumental epic Trees Outside The Academy inviting favourable comparison with his other band's finest work.

LONDON TOWN

Kano (album, 679)

Renowned as something of a wordsmith, the London rapper's second album certainly features some interesting descriptive lyrics, which may not always be particularly tasteful but are delivered with a passion and honesty which sets Kano apart from most of the American boosters who dominate this genre.

Musically, it's distinctively different as well with a variety of influences creeping in to complement his own omnipresent trademark grime vibe. A critic might suggest he's attempting to be all things to all people, particularly when it comes to collaborations with the likes of past-it indie boy Damon Albarn, Craig 'we chilled on Sunday' David and atrocious Catherine Tate soundalike Kate Nash. But, perhaps surprisingly, a lot of it works and the result is a quite listenable album.

MAN ON THE ROOF

Stephen Fretwell (album, Fiction)

With a name like Fretwell, you'd expect this guy to be a fairly adept guitarist and, judging by this example, he is. A mixture of touching elegiac melodies combined with an occasional upbeat modern ragtime ensures an interesting listen. He's also in possession of an idiosyncratic husky voice which helps on beauties such as the hypnotic Darlin' Don't. But this trait almost becomes the leitmotif and suffers later on as he tries to outdo his own gruffness and it almost plunges into self-parody. Nonetheless a real talent, albeit one in need of some far better songs.

also showing

ATONEMENT. Big-screen adaptation of Ian McEwan’s masterful wartime epic starring Keira Knightley and James McAvoy as two lovers whose lives are irrevocably altered by one young girl’s misinformed lie.

RUN FAT BOY RUN. Portly slacker Dennis (Simon Pegg) realises he’s erred by jilting his fiancée at the altar and sets out to win her back by running a marathon.

KNOCKED UP. Layabout Ben meets attractive blonde reporter Alison (Katherine Heigl) in a club and can’t believe his luck when she drunkenly invites him up for coffee. But when she falls pregnant following their brief encounter, Ben is forced to face up to the responsibilities of fatherhood for the remainder of this goof-out comedy.

THE BOURNE ULTIMATUM. Bourne (Matt Damon) and the CIA are at each other’s throats again when a London newspaper publishes a story about the amnesiac assassin and name-checks the top-secret operation Blackbriar.

THE SIMPSONS MOVIE. Homer unintentionally unleashes the worst environmental disaster on the town of Springfield.

BRATZ. Pointless saccharine teen comedy in which four best girlfriends battle the domineering student president.

BRIDGE TO TERABITHIA. Moving fantasy piece about two bullied children who find a bridge to a different world where they learn to deal with their tormentors.

MATERIAL GIRL. Sanctimonious teen comedy starring Hilary and Haylie Duff as stuck-up heiresses to their family’s cosmetics empire who lose it all.

MEET THE ROBINSONS. Animated comedy in which inventor Lewis meets a mysterious stranger with a time machine.

MY BEST FRIEND. Sparky French comedy about a charmless art dealer who is ridiculed for his lack of friends and so bets a priceless Greek vase he can produce a best friend in 10 days.

28 WEEKS LATER
(20th Century Fox, 18, retail & rental)

It’s more than half a year since the rage virus escaped a Cambridge lab and devastated Britain, transforming victims into ravening psychopaths in seconds. Now the contagion appears to have burned out and a US-led UN force is in London to begin rebuilding. Don (Robert Carlisle, pictured right) is one of the few survivors and can’t wait to be reunited with his children (they were abroad when the epidemic broke), even though he has appalling news about their mother’s fate. Whereas the first film focused on a bewildered survivor trying to make sense of a new and hostile world, this sequel by Juan Carlos Fresnadillo is more concerned with the fragility of newly re-established order and the paranoid fear of a recurrence. It’s also more action orientated and relies far too heavily on coincidence and contrivance to get the virus back out on the streets and to keep its key characters bumping into each other, but it nevertheless delivers its claustrophobic horrors with an effective and frenzied menace. Once again, the Z-word is never used, although 28 Weeks Later is a zombie movie in all but name; even more so this time around, with the infected improbably functioning after sustaining massive injuries and a splashy moment of black comedy with a helicopter in Regents Park that irresistibly recalls George Romero’s Dawn Of The Dead.

VINCENT & THEO
(Network, 15, retail)

As its title indicates, Robert Altman’s 200-minute made-for-TV film is less a straight biopic of artistic icon Vincent Van Gogh than it is a study of his fervent relationship with sibling Theo. It opens with news footage of Vase with Fifteen Sunflowers going under the hammer at Christies for millions, setting an ironic counterpoint for the portrait of poverty and creativity against the odds that follows. Tim Roth completely inhabits his interpretation of Van Gogh, an emotionally mercurial genius whose intensity shifts from tenderness to rage as he butts up against the prejudices and received wisdom of an art establishment he refuses to revere. Paul Rhys outwardly has less to work with as more conventional art dealer Theo and yet is a vital yang to Vincent’s yin, with Julian Mitchell’s sharply observed script subtly teasing out their relationship of mutual dependency – Vincent may have survived in privation thanks to Theo’s financial support (selling just one painting in his lifetime) but at least he had his art, while his brother exhausts himself trying to get ahead in a business whose standards largely appal him. The film is a work of art in its own right, meticulously dressed and evocatively lit sets combining with fine location work in Holland and Provence to recall the tone and composition of many of the artist’s works. Also featured in this two-disc set is The South Bank Show special featuring Altman in discussion.

TO DIE FOR
(Network, 15, retail)

Pitched as an exploration of the nature of celebrity, Gus Van Sant’s pithy little 1995 film is more of a black comedy film noir. Nicole Kidman plays fame-obsessed dumb bunny Suzanne whose perky self-regard is about the only acceptable face of her fanatical drive to become a celeb, even if it means running over her good-natured lunk of a husband (Matt Dillon) or ruthlessly exploiting a trio of moronic disaffected teens. It’s an enjoyably spiteful tale of a manipulative femme fatale but far less successful as a satire; Kidman’s her usual glacial self and Suzanne is such an unpleasantly selfish airhead that her rise never seems more than an unconvincing necessity of the plot.

CASTING THE RUNES
(Network, PG, retail)

Best known in the ’70s as a resident director of the BBC’s Ghost Story For Christmas strand, director Lawrence Clark’s updated adaptation of MR James’ classic chiller, made for ITV Playhouse in 1979, is a rather hit-and-miss affair, with the memory of Jacques Tourneur’s landmark 1957 film adaptation Night Of The Demon always looming large above it. Most of the changes to the original material are unnecessary and there are moments when the effects work is so ropy (rubber spider legs wobbling hysterically under a bed) that it makes golden era Doctor Who look like John Carpenter’s The Thing. As sinister Satanist Julian Karswell, Iain Cuthbertson didn’t have room to project much malevolence beyond his own creepy smile and Jan Francis seldom convinces as the prying local TV journalist who finds herself the object of his deadly runic curse. Nevertheless, putting such shortcomings and a rather glib ending to one side, Casting The Runes does have some powerful atmospheric moments, its drab or snowbound landscapes evoking a grim bleakness and an opening attack particularly effective. Much better is the brief adaptation of Mr Humphreys And His Inheritance which, silly climactic FX aside, is a perfectly measured tale of an English haunting, and the excellent James documentary A Pleasant Terror.

Star rating: ★★ ★

THE ADVENTURES OF BLACK BEAUTY: THE COMPLETE FIRST SERIES
(Network, 15, retail)

Taking only the title character from Anna Sewell’s novel, this 1972 TV series was a firm family favourite, boasting solid production values, acting and writing. Like many animal-themed shows of its day, it follows the Skippy structure in which each episode has Beauty’s new adoptive family of a widowed vet and his children plunged into an encounter with period ruffians or some life and death adventure which require a dash of equestrian heroics to resolve. Although the narrative framework gets a little familiar in the course of the 26 episodes on these three discs, there’s plenty of compensation in the blend of period detail and adventure, as well as guest stars such as John Thaw, Geoffrey Bayldon and Peter Bowles.

BOMBSHELL
King Creasote (album, Names)

Those unfamiliar with the sound of Scottish folk-pop probably wouldn’t have bothered with King Creasote’s latest album. Dubbed by some as a masterpiece, it’s the latest workings of prolific songwriter Kenny Anderson. Its mellow mood gives a hint of promise but seconds into the first song it becomes apparent that while it has a melancholy vibe familiar to some great bands it has none of the vocal or lyrical genius. Easily forgettable if not for the weird accordion, strings and electronics.

RIBBED MUSIC FOR THE NUMB GENERATION
Soho Dolls (album, A&G)

Over-hyped and over-sexed, the Dolls clearly enjoy courting controversy, whether via their laughably trite, oh-so-risque lyrics or head temptress Maya Von Doll’s skimpy outfits. The problem here will be familiar to the legions of fly-by-night contemporary dullards congesting our airwaves – style over substance. No amount of sauce can mask the distinct whiff of prefab Plasticine pop on this unappetising slice of electro-sleaze-rock.

Team Leader – Community Engagement – ND0070

£27,555 - £28,767 (pay award pending)

Harlow Council is looking to recruit a skilled and enthusiastic person to manage the Council's Community Engagement Team, and lead on the initiatives that will be emerging under the Government's "Neighbourhoods" agenda.

As Team Leader, you will be responsible for a team that works closely with the community to develop social capacity and engagement. The Team's roles include coordinating an ongoing programme of town wide consultation events; encouraging the formation of, and providing support to, community groups and residents associations; and developing the Council's Community Cohesion Strategy by working with internal and external partners to deliver these objectives across the board.

The Team is part of the Community Safety Team, which includes responsibility for tackling anti-social behaviour and reducing crime and disorder, using the joint approach of enforcement and prevention under our status as a Government Respect Area, for which we have received national recognition. Community engagement and cohesion is an important part of this process, and you will be expected to work closely with the other Team sections to deliver quality of life improvement outcomes.

You should have previous experience of working with the community plus supervising staff, and be able to demonstrate your commitment, vision and drive to delivering this agenda.

For further information on this post, please contact Paul Anderson, Community Safety Manager on 01279 446128.

Closing date: 1st October 2007.

Senior Training & Development Consultant – HR0051

£31,680 - £33,138 per annum (pay award pending)

Are you an experienced training professional with a passion for developing people? If so, then this could be the role for you.

This is a first class opportunity to build on your professional skills, widen your experience and advance your career with a forward looking Council. Reporting to the Head of Human Resources, you will manage the provision of the training and development programmes across the Council for approximately 500 staff. You will work closely with Heads of Service and other staff to build on the "learning organisation" culture and will be responsible for analysing and defining training needs.

In return we offer an excellent range of benefits, including final salary pension scheme, generous holiday allowance, pleasant working conditions not to mention plenty of opportunities for your own development.

Closing date: 28th September 2007.

Interview date: TBA.

Application Forms are available for collection from Contact Harlow, Civic Centre, The Water Gardens, College Square, Harlow, Essex CM20 1WG. Telephone: (01279) 446017 Minicom: (01279) 446026 Website: www.harlow.gov.uk/jobs

We are committed to interviewing all applicants with a disability who meet the minimum criteria. Jobs may be available on a job share basis.

Pet Memorials

TURKISH CARR

You were a second son

A second brother

A dog like you there'll be no other

For you could never be replaced

Our family member that we embraced

We only had you for five short years

And now we cry our endless tears

For five short years was not enough,

To give to you a lifetime of love

Now we are left with an empty space

And painfully remember your handsome face

You were ill at the end and had to go

And we all hope that we let you know

That we loved you dearly

And will remember that day as it comes around yearly

That day you left us

When you went away

At peace and no longer in pain you lay

So be a good boy and wait for us there

Here, leaving us with memories of you we all will share

We must dry our tears and wipe our eyes

Because Turkey-Boy you will always be in our lives

Our little man

Our family member

The day you left us

The 3rd of September

All our love - Always

Mum (Elaine), Dad (Cliff), Laura and Daniel

Tough opener sees Rams Colts suffer derby defeat

HARLOW Colts found it hard going as they slipped to a 40-7 home defeat at the hands of Bishop's Stortford Colts.

The quick passing and speedy Stortford three-quarters' proved too much of a handful for the new Harlow squad — they scored five of their team's six tries.

Stortford exerted pressure for the first 10 minutes, before the ball was spun wide and they scored an unconverted try.

After Harlow pressure failed to produce a try, Stortford added two more tries, both converted, to put the Hertfordshire side 19-0 up at the interval.

Rams number eight Michael Weston was outstanding in defence and attack.

But too often the ball was turned over, releasing the Stortford wings who scored three more tries, all of which were converted.

In the last minute of the game Harlow were awarded a 5m scrum.

Fly-half Aled Hills made a break through the middle and when he was stopped, Harlow recycled the ball out to the left wing, where inside centre Ian Adams took the pass and burst through the defence to score a well-deserved try which Hills converted.

Harlow host Woodford this Sunday at Ram Gorse in the first round of the National Colts Cup.

Davies, Mahmood, Bowering, Goodey, Hockley, Jenner, King, Mortimer, Watkin.

● HARLOW U-15s conceded 31 points in the first half before going down 38-7 at home to South Woodham Ferrers.

Woodham scored five tries and three conversions while home centre Tony Doyle failed to ground properly on two occasions when over the visitors' line.

Woodham were restricted to one try in the second half. The Rams cut the deficit with a Doyle try which was converted by Denzil Grafton.

GREAT GALA: Winners celebrate their spoils at Griffin Bowls Club in Harlow

BOWLERS from three counties enjoyed themselves as they competed in Griffin Bowls Club's inaugural Ladies Gala Day.

The event was blessed with lovely weather as 20 teams from Essex, Middlesex, Hertfordshire and London took part in the competition, sponsored by Funeral directors Daniel Robinson, at the Harlow-based lawn bowls club.

Each team was made up of four players, while the rinks were in impeccable condition.

Shell Club (Basildon) were overall winners. They won all four matches to get 8 points, while Cheshunt came second with 6.

The battle for third place was tight with Durrants Park from Enfield edging out Central Wanstead on the ends difference after both teams finished level on points.

Sawbridgeworth and Stansted were respectively sixth and ninth.

Olive Stanley, the Griffins Bowls Club captain and event organiser, said: "The event went better than we expected. Everyone enjoyed it."

Forty members of the Southern Way club helped with organising the competition. These included meals for all the bowlers.

The event raised £1,000, which will pay for maintenance of the green.

EWBA chief heads home

HAVING toured the country in her role as EWBA (English Women's Bowling Association) President, it must have been rather nice for Ruth Howes to play on her home turf in a special match at Elderfield.

Harlow Bowling Club hosted Howes and an England EWBA team, which included international player Shirley Page.

Mrs Howes, who lives in Old Harlow, was also joined by the EBA (English Bowls Association) President Peter Arnold, whose team took on the women in this annual fixture.

The women, skipped by former EWBA President Kay Kerley, with Maiwen West, Angela Harris and Page, lost by four shots to the men.

This was the last time this fixture was staged under the two separate organisations. From January 1, 2008 the two bowls associations unite as one body, Bowls England, and this match will be played in Suffolk.

Mrs Howes has been a member of the Old Harlow-based club since the 1980s.

JOHN Reynolds lit the touchpaper for a fantastic night for Harlow Penguins with four gold medals.

The 12-year-old swimmer won the 200m individual medley (3 mins 7.12secs), the 200m backstroke (3:08.05), 200m breaststroke (3:44.74) and 50m butterfly, recording a personal best time of 39.85s.

Some of the Harlow Pool based club's up-and-coming swimmers competed in the open meeting at Borehamwood.

Victoria Malcolm (12) won gold medals in the 50m breaststroke (46.13s) and 200m butterfly (3:20.73).

She also sealed a bronze in the 200m individual medley (3:15.89), and was fourth in both the 200m backstroke (3:05.49) and breaststroke (3:39.99).

Danny Chan (12) scooped three silver medals. He was second in the 50m backstroke (43.03s), freestyle (36.12s), and breaststroke (48.84s).

He also collected bronze medals in the 200m breaststroke (3:44.55) and freestyle (3:05.80).

All swimmers swam brilliantly throughout the day while 10-year-old debutants Abby Barnes, Claire Houghton and Michael Powell, all shone.

Abby swam the 50m butterfly, winning a bronze in 52.36s.

Claire came 6th in the 50m freestyle in 54.60s and 7th in the 50m breaststroke in 1:03.88.

Not to be out-done, Michael claimed a silver in the 50m freestyle, recording 59.91s. He also came third in the 50m breaststroke in 1:14.34 and fifth in the 200m freestyle, clocking 4:41.34.

The club's youngest competitor was Mason Arnold who, despite swimming in the 9 years and under section, did brilliantly in the 200m backstroke (3:50.20) and freestyle (3:16.58).

Matthew Walton (11) excelled in the 200m individual medley (3:10.28), breaststroke (3:43.13) and backstroke (3:15.60).

He struck gold in the 200m butterfly with a top time of 3:38.82.

Twelve-year-old Shannon Ellis claimed silver in the 200m freestyle (2:49.30), 5th place in the 50m breaststroke (49.17) and swam well in the 50m freestyle, clocking 34.61s.

Gold, silver and bronze for Hunt

MARK Hunt competed in the Eastern Young Athletes League Cup Final at Melbourne Park in Chelmsford on Sunday.

Only the top six clubs in the league can compete in this final and the Harlow athlete's Chelmsford club competed alongside Havering, Basildon, Bedford, St Albans and Stevenage.

The former Passmores School student helped his club win the match.

Mark chipped in with 2nd in the 100m (11.4secs), 1st in the 400m (50.4s) and 3rd in the 200m (23.0s).

He was beaten in the 100m and 200m by Deji Tobais from Bedford, who is one of the highest ranking sprinters in the country at this age.

Mark will represent Chelmsford in the Anglian League Cup Final on September 16 at Bury St Edmunds, Suffolk, before starting winter training.

Childs' play costs Sawbo

Barkingside 2, Sawb'worth Tn 0
(Essex Senior League)

IT was a case of frustration for the Robins as their 10-man team slipped to a 2-0 defeat at Barkingside.

Left-sided midfielder Jordan Childs had received a booking for a foul early in the second half of last Wednesday's match at Oaks Stadium before picking up a second yellow card in the 56th minute after raising his hands at a home player.

This was after he had been provoked by this particular player, who had kicked the ball at Childs while he was on the ground after being fouled by another Barkingside player, from which, Sawbridgeworth were awarded a free-kick.

Neither home player was cautioned and Robins boss Richard Branchflower said: "I spoke to the ref afterwards and he could not give me an explanation.

"If the ref had not tried to play a silly advantage and just given the foul, the rest [the sending off] would not have happened."

Barkingside had taken the lead minutes before the red card. A home corner was chested in by Greg Thompson.

Barkingside doubled their advantage on 73 minutes when Mark Steadman headed in James Bly's long free-kick.

Subsequent first-half action saw a Dave Hutchison shot cleared off the home line by Bly and Neil Pedley fired over just before the break.

At the other end, Mark Doyle nodded over a 15th-minute corner.

Mark Thompson and Greg Thompson both fired wide around the half-hour mark for the hosts.

Branchflower added: "We did not defend set pieces well. Dan Crook played excellently at left-back and Paul Hammick did well in midfield."

SAWBRIDGEWORTH TN: Ring, Hayter, Crook, Day, Baker (Buckingham 79), Hammick, Pedley (Simmons 73), Hudson, Hutchison, Moore, Childs.

New signing shines as Epping go top

DEBUTANT substitute Chengetai Mpanitsa grabbed a goal and set one up as Epping went top with a 3-0 home win over Manford Way.

It was their first victory this season in the senior premier division of the LFC Insurance Essex Olympian Football League.

Mpanitsa, snapped up from the Harlow & District League side Risden Wood, was included in the Epping squad — missing five first team regulars — and his impact on Saturday was immediate.

He came on after 65 minutes and within a couple of minutes headed home Joss Albone's free-kick to put the hosts ahead.

Mpanitsa's cross from the left set up Leon

Rolle on 75 minutes and Rolle beat a defender before scoring, as he did five minutes later when he completed a brace after being set up by Phil Bulled.

A goalless first half had seen Manford have a penalty claim snubbed when one of their players went down after challenging for the ball with home keeper Alan Moore in the box.

Neil Whitbread, Epping's boss, said: "He [Mpanitsa] is a strong lad and he has an eye for goal. David McGuinness [Epping's other debutant] did well for us [in midfield] and he looks as though he could be useful."

Debutant midfielder Sean Kane netted twice when Potter Street defeated Old Chelmsfordians

3-1 at home in senior division one.

Kane fired Street into an early lead with a shot from just inside the box, and 10 minutes later, Chris Grove doubled the advantage, nodding home Carl Smith's cross.

The visitors pulled a goal back almost immediately. Damian Lee nodded in from a corner.

But Street saved the best until last. This came just before the break when a Smith corner was nodded on by Jimmy Cochrane before Kane's overhead 18-yard kick flew into the goal past the stunned Chelmsfordians keeper.

Rob Campbell, Street's player-boss, said: "He [Sean] made a great start. You do not see many goals like his second at our level."

Sting in the Tail an Angels delight

Tonbridge Angels 1, Harlow Tn 2
(Ryman League, premier division)

MARK Taylor marked his comeback in memorable style as he scored the 90th-minute winner to give the Hawks victory at Tonbridge Angels.

Taylor, who had missed three first team matches, had come on as a substitute for Kevin Warren and scored a strange goal to give Harlow Town a third successive win.

His in-swinging ball from the left eluded everybody in the box and went into the far corner of the net.

Hawks' triumph at the Longmead Stadium in front of a 352-strong crowd was their third in a row and lifted them into 11th spot.

Harlow, who brought Shaun Gliddon in for midfielder Danny Hill (stomach bug), had a shaky start with Angels spurning two good chances on eight and 12 minutes.

Tommy Tyne fired wide when he only had keeper Ian Joyce to beat and Hamid Barr dragged a low shot wide, shortly before Harlow's Leon Lalite curled a free-kick into the side netting.

The Essex side went behind on 15 minutes after the linesman signalled for a free-kick on the right for what seemed an innocuous challenge by Warren on a home player.

Ryan Martin's set-piece was touched on by Tyne before it deflected off Joyce and into the path of Scott Kinch, who stabbed home from six yards.

The visitors equalised on the half-hour mark. Jordan Fowler's through ball set up James Bunn, who controlled it before shooting past home goalkeeper Matt Reed into the far corner.

Harlow had an escape on 55 minutes when a mistake by centre-half Danny Chapman let Barr in. He beat Joyce, but could only watch as his effort rebounded off the post.

At the other end, Kenny Davis (shot), Bunn (header) and Lalite (shot) had efforts on the home goal, but it was beginning to look like a draw until Taylor's late intervention.

Hawks player-boss Kirby told Star Sport: "The team had to work hard and were rewarded for it. It gives us a confidence boost. We are now only three points off second place."

Kirby also praised midfielder Fowler. He said: "Jordan Fowler had a very good game. I can't recall him ever giving the ball away. He also played a part in both the goals."

SUPER SUB: Mark Taylor

Heavy defeat for depleted Robins

A SEVERELY depleted Sawbridgeworth side slipped to a heavy home defeat at the hands of Barking at Crofter's End on Saturday.

The hosts, who included 16-year-old Matt Coggin at left-back in a 12-man squad, fell behind after only three minutes.

Bradley Barnes, one of six former Sawbridgeworth players in the visitors' squad, netted at the far post from a right-wing cross.

Richard Branchflower's side went close to an equaliser five minutes later when striker Kevin Moore — playing out of position at right-back —

Sawbridgeworth Tn 1, Barking 4
(Essex Senior League)

narrowly missed the target from Dan Hudson's free-kick from outside the box.

The home pressure was rewarded on 37 minutes when Jordan Childs fed Dave Hutchison, who netted via the underside of the bar with a fierce shot.

Parity lasted only three minutes before another former Robins player, Chris Bullock, restored Barking's lead with a header from a corner, which looped over everyone and squeezed in the angle between the crossbar and post.

Barking keeper Adam Rafis did well to deny Hutchison after the break.

The visitors stretched their lead on 62 minutes through a Ryan Doyle header from a well-worked corner routine.

Substitute Mick Mbala rounded off the scoring when he headed home via a free-kick on 87 minutes.

SAWBRIDGEWORTH TN:- Kingston, Moore, Coggin, Day, Crook, Smith, Childs (Ward, 64) Hudson, Hutchison, Sontag, Simmons.

Street slammed by hot Heath

HATFIELD Heath bounced back from their opening day 4-1 defeat to Loughton to win 4-0 at Potter Street reserves in the premier division of the Footprint Bishop's Stortford, Stansted & District League.

Quendon Athletic [Kieran Badcock 2, Tyler Gilkes, Mitchell Das penalty] came back down to earth when they lost 5-4 at Pelly House on Saturday after hammering Potter Street reserves 10-1 in their opening game.

In division one, Dunmow Rhodes slumped to a 5-0 defeat at Langley Rangers, Rangers [James Cutler 2, Alex Lawrensen, Richard Lodge, Glen Ealy], while Thorley Park [Sam Colson] drew 1-1 at home to Potter Street A.

Heath Rovers booked a spot in the second round of the Hertfordshire Junior Cup after triumphing 4-0 at West Herts League side Hunton Bridge. Scorers were Kieran Morgan, Paul Williamson, Vincent Ackle and Alfie Alabaster.

Other results:- prem div — Debden res 1, Alemite Ath 3 (Lewis Eaglestone 2, Gavin Cockman); North Weald 6 (N. Smith 3, D. Connolly 2, M. Clark), Sheering 0; Loughton 3 (Drayton 3), Birchanger 4 (Mully, Ager, Roberts, Smith).

Div one — Albury v Frontiers (p/p as Frontiers unable to raise a side); Hatfield Heath res 3 (Michael Wood, Paul Crane, Steve Christofe), Thaxted Rangers res 3; North Weald res 6, Avondale Rangers 0; Sheering res 1, Salvation Army 4.

Reserves pay penalty in opener

A STRONG Hawks reserves side slipped to a comprehensive 4-1 home defeat against AFC Hornchurch in their opening Capital Reserve League match.

Harlow Town, who included Tobi Ositola, defender Mark Taylor and player-boss Ryan Kirby, went behind after 21 minutes on Wednesday. Kirby brought down Amos Foyewa in the box and Joe Keith converted the spot-kick.

On 40 minutes, Kirby was then adjudged to have fouled Keith in the box, but this time he put the penalty over the bar.

Harry Elmes doubled the visitors' lead on the hour mark, drilling low into the bottom corner.

Tom Brooks made it 3-0 on 82 minutes when he fired past Hawks keeper Michael Dumoulin, but Harlow hit back straight from the restart when Ositola headed in Xaniel Doku's low cross.

Brooks netted his second to complete the scoring on 85 minutes, when he smashed the ball past Dumoulin after charging down Michael Gliddon's clearance.

'Just don't Conc out,' says Kirby

Midfielder Danny Hill will return to the squad after missing the win over Tonbridge with a stomach complaint.

Kirby will turn to either Kenny Davis or Clarke Akers if he needs another option up front in place of Dean Williams or James Bunn.

This is because Tobi Ositola has left the club while Danny Green has gone on loan to Ridgeons League club Tiptree United.

Kirby explained: "We came to the limit off our budget when we got Danny Hill and there is no extra money.

"Danny [Green] needs first team football — there have not been many reserve games."

Keeper James Hasell's recuperation from a hand operation could rule him out for some time.

The injury was sustained in the Hawks' pre-season friendly with Bishop's Stortford. He is recovering after surgery to remove floating pieces of bone in his left hand.

Kirby said: "We do not want to rush him back and then lose him for the season. Ian [Joyce] is doing well and I'm happy for him to be there."

Frustration for Harlow in finale

He said: "He kept wicket impeccably and I will be disappointed if he isn't knocking on my door next March demanding the gloves!"

Walthamstow batted first last Saturday and exploited Harlow's limited attack as well as the easy surface and a fast outfield.

Openers Rob Oram and Ashley Leat put on 80 for the first wicket before the latter was dismissed by Modhwadia.

Spinner Nick Butler then had Tim Cartwright stumped for a duck and Oram went on to make 66, sharing a half-century stand with the influential Asif Bala.

Bala simply destroyed Harlow's attack as he made 156 in only 90 deliveries with the ball being dispatched to all parts of the ground.

Acting captain Heskett dismissed Bala, but not before he had shared a century stand for the fifth wicket with Michael Harris.

Harris ended with 58 not out, while Heskett was Harlow's most successful bowler taking 3-90.

In reply, Nilesh Odedra and Nick Butler put on a half-century stand for the first wicket before the latter was dismissed. Odedra (54) was the only Harlow player to compile a substantial innings, but wickets fell steadily.

It was left to Heskett (19 not out) and John Perry (8 not out) to play out the last seven overs to clinch the draw.

Greg Harris took 4-60 for Walthamstow.

Heskett added: "Our bowling was not good enough. We had [to use] bowlers who had not bowled much all season."

Lacklustre finale for stuttering Sawbo

A DISAPPOINTING campaign for Sawbridgeworth ended in anti-climax as they lost narrowly at home to basement side Hertford.

Saturday's result did not save Hertford from the drop and it also meant that Sawbridgeworth finished sixth, which was tough on skipper Danny Wilson who scored 622 runs at an average of more than 50.

This is an outstanding achievement in a wet summer, but Wilson was more concerned with his team. He said: "I would rather have a worse season and us finish higher. I was optimistic at the start that we could finish in the top two or three, but the league table does not lie."

"Unfortunately most people cannot look at their statistics and feel they have performed to their potential. We should be able to adapt to wet wickets."

However, Wilson was upbeat about the future, particularly with young players at the club such as Steve Ashman (16). "We have some players of 14, 15 and 16 who have the talent to come into the first team. Steve [Ashman] has shown he is a tough player and he could be really prolific," he said.

Hertford batted first and lost Chris Box when the score was 12, caught by Wilson off Paul James for 0.

William Bancroft (4) and Tom Bancroft (0) were dismissed off successive balls by Andrew Richardson.

Stephen Riddle went on to make a sound 36, but when he went the visitors were struggling on 62-4.

Robert Darby and Hertford skipper Scott Ruskin then added 60 before the latter was caught for 37 by Phil Marshall off Cunningham who got rid off Oliver Ray first ball.

Richard Cordingley survived the hat-trick ball, but the Hertford tail perished quickly as only 10 more added and two of the four wickets fell in consecutive balls to Cunningham who finished with 6-31. This brought his league haul to 37.

Chasing 132, Sawbo were soon 8-2 after Wilson was lbw to Jon Ryan for 4 and Rhys Purnell (15) went for 0.

Ashman made a fighting 22 before falling to Ruskin who got the next five wickets as the hosts slipped to 98-8 before recovering to 119-8 by tea.

After the interval, Ryan bowled Cunningham for 17 and James for 0 as Sawbridgeworth fell 10 short of the target. Ryan claimed 4-46 and Ruskin took 6-42.

Goal feast has Apex in seventh heaven

NEW season, new name and a totally transformed team — that's Harlow Star Youth Community League side Apex Youth Under-11's who started the campaign with a fantastic 7-0 success against Mark Hall Youth.

Apex — known as PDS Youth last season — struggled for wins last term, but now have a platform to enjoy a great season.

Stephen Franklin was the Apex hero, netting five of the seven goals.

Lewis Fry had opened the scoring in the first half, while Reece Benham netted the other midway through the second period.

But the highlight was Franklin, who even ended up in the back of the net himself after scoring his final goal in injury-time!

New team FC Paringdon U-10's also got off to a great start with an 8-2 win at Epping.

Jordan Blackburn grabbed a hat-trick as the visitors led 3-0 at half-time.

Second-half goals came from Alastair King (2), Shaun Watkins, plus two more for Jordan to seal a five-goal haul.

Bradley Brook was the four-goal hero for Langley Colts

Stallions at Waltham Abbey. Tom Ryan also netted in the 5-2 win.

Joseph Leadley and Jake Messenger struck for Langley Colts U-10 Stallions in a 3-1 victory against Harlow Town Colts. An own goal completed the win.

Langley Colts U-10 Mustangs drew 2-2 at Abbey Youth. Scorers were Gregory Kirk and Josh Murphy.

Langley Colts U-9 Stallions won 3-0 against Ridsen Wood.

Andrew Chong stabbed in the first goal as Langley led 1-0 at the break.

He combined with Sam Chaplin, who finished well to double the hosts' lead.

An excellent team move ended with Sam scoring his second and Langley's third to secure the points.

Langley Colts U-9 Mustangs triumphed 7-4 in a goal feast at home to Waltham Abbey. Jensen Williams, Owen Morrison, Jamie Ashworth and Mitchell Aves (4) were on target.

Completing the triumvirate of Langley teams in this division, the Trojans defeated hosts Elsenham 6-0. Finding the net were Connor Quinn (2), Tyler Bull (2), Jamie Waters and Callum Kirk.

In the U-8s division, Harlow Town Whites triumphed 2-1 at Saturn.

A clinical finish from Milo Barret gave the visitors the lead. He latched onto an excellent cross from man-of-the-match Alfie Babb.

After the break, Barret struck the bar. The ball rebounded back to Sam Butler who headed in the second.

Saturn pulled one back late on after a well-worked move.

Langley Colts Stallions won 5-0 at Newhall Rangers. Scorers were Stanley Saunders, Ronnie Bird (3) and Samuel Bladen.

In the U-12s division, Langley Colts Trojans chalked up a 5-1 success at home to Waltham Abbey. Jack Tracey, Anthony Ball (2), Luke Preston and Tyler Dunkin were on the scoresheet.

Strikes from George Bonney and Gregory Wright (3) helped Langley Colts U-12 Mustangs to a 4-1 defeat of hosts Mark Hall Youth.

Results: U-12s — Langley Colts Trojans 5, Waltham Abbey 1; Mark Hall Yth 1, Langley Colts Mustangs 4; Marquis Sports 9, Harlow Tn 3; Saturn 5, Epping Yth 1. U-11 — Mark Hall Yth 0, Apex Yth 7; Ridsen Wd 0, Ware Yth 16; Saturn 2, Epping Yth 3; Waltham Abbey 2, Langley Colts Stallions 5.

Undefeated stand thwarts bid to end on a winning note

A FANTASTIC unbroken ninth-wicket stand between Ongar skipper Dave Hetherington and Ben Stewart condemned Epping to a two-wicket defeat against Ongar at Love Lane in their last league match.

The hosts had looked down and out on Saturday when their eighth wicket fell with them around 80 short of Epping's total of 236-8.

However, Hetherington and Stewart defied the Epping attack to guide their team to an improbable victory.

Earlier, Dean Majeed had played excellently for the visitors to make a superb century.

He came in at number three after Alex

Merritt was bowled by Reksih Bagga for a duck.

Majeed received most support from Dan Sly (33) and the prolific Dan Sibley (35) with the other double figure knocks coming from Dan Majeed (16) and skipper Geoff Maynard (17 not out).

Stewart (3-53) and Bagga (3-69) were Ongar's most successful bowlers.

In reply, Ongar's Nick Suker (24) and Bagga (17) both had starts without going on to play a big innings. Useful contributions came from Dan Shuttleworth (39) and Dave Coles (50).

However, when Shuttleworth and Coles were dismissed, an Epping win looked a formality — until Hetherington and Stewart turned the tables.

Shahid Majeed (4-41) was the most successful of the eight bowlers used by Maynard. Dave Bickley (9-4-22-1) was the most economical Epping bowler.

Hawks player-boss warns side ahead of tricky FA Cup clash

RYAN Kirby has warned his Hawks side not to underestimate Essex Senior League outfit Concord Rangers as his team get their FA Cup campaign underway at Barrows Farm this Saturday.

The Canvey Island based side will be looking to repeat Saffron Walden Town's shock win over Harlow Town in the first qualifying round tie exactly a year ago.

By DAVID RIMMER
rimmerd@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Player-boss Kirby knows his charges must battle if they are to dispatch Rangers and start a Cup run.

"They will come at us from the start. It will be a hard game," Kirby said. "I have played them a few times over the years and we will have to be patient."

Harlow Town go into Saturday's tie at Barrows Farm on the back of three straight league wins, while Concord won 5-1 against Spartans South Midlands League outfit London Colney in the FA Vase five days ago.

Kirby said: "I expect to win and we have to deliver. We are expected to win."

"The fans have been fantastic and it's important that we give them something to cheer about."

Kirby may again be on the bench as he is working his way back to full fitness following a knee injury.

He made his comeback as a late substitute against Carshalton Athletic nine days ago before he played 90 minutes against AFC Hornchurch in a reserve match last Wednesday.

After this he experienced swelling to his knee and only had a few minutes' action at Tonbridge Angels on Saturday.

Frustration for Harlow in finale

Walthamstow 330-6d, Harlow 182-6

Match drawn
(Shepherd Neame Essex League, division two)

IT has been a frustrating season for Harlow who have finished in the bottom four in division two of the Shepherd Neame Essex League.

Skipper James Butler, who missed the last two games of the season, identified some of the reasons behind his side's under-performance.

He said: "Our batting was disappointing. Nileshe Odedra [more than 600 runs] and Nick Butler with 450 runs led the way, but only 20-year-old Waqas Akhtar and the experienced Iain Nuttall provided any consistent support to these guys."

"We often lost our way during the middle of the innings."

Heartening performances with the ball came from Harlow's 18-year-old vice-captain Luke Heskett (25 wickets) and Nick Butler (15 wickets), but the skipper added: "The bowling lacked penetration. We were significantly hindered by the inconsistent availability of experienced all-rounder Zaphir Nazir and the fact that our overseas player Brad Winger never really found his feet with the new ball."

Butler is hoping that Odedra can score nearer 900 runs in 2008, setting the standard for youngsters such as Akhtar and Nileshe Modhwadia.

The captain is impressed by the emergence of 15-year-old wicket-keeper Nino Calvino who made his first team debut at Walthamstow.

Suffolk, so good for Rams

Ipswich 5, Harlow 24
(RFU London div three north east)

A STRONG all-round display in defence and attack provided the platform for Harlow to kick off their league season with a victory at Ipswich.

Their display in Suffolk five days ago puts the Rams in good heart for their home clash against Rochford Hundred this Saturday.

The Harlow forwards had a massive game at Ipswich, scoring all three tries while the backs enjoyed good attacking moves and share the credit for keeping the home side to a single score.

This came right at the start when Harlow's defence went badly wrong from the kick-off allowing Ipswich to run in a very soft unconverted try. A bad kick at the restart had the travelling supporters worried, but their anxiety proved unfounded.

Harlow exerted pressure and after 15 minutes, the home side conceded a line-out inside their 22m line.

From this, Harlow lock Jon Snow took it cleanly and the Rams pack drove for the line, before prop Paul Prindiville powered over for an unconverted try to level the scores.

Harlow's commitment in the tackle broke down threats to their line, but the Suffolk side were having problems stopping the Harlow forward drives and twice conceded penalties on 25 and 30 minutes. Harlow's newly-appointed skipper Nick Ford kicked these to put the Essex side 11-5 up at half-time. Shortly after the break, Ford added a third penalty. Harlow continued to dominate and twice the pack made 25 metres or more with rolling mauls.

Harlow's second try came on the hour when number eight Kain Claridge pressurised the home full-back. The ball fell loose and flanker Scott Romaine scored.

Ipswich threw everything into the attack and as the game moved towards the final quarter they kept the attack in the Harlow 22.

The Rams made some changes up front and dominated the last 10 minutes as their pack enjoyed several attacks on the Ipswich line. From one of these the hosts conceded a penalty from which Ford passed to Lee Harron who shipped it to lock Paul Eynon out wide, and he had a safe run in to complete the scoring with a 75th-minute unconverted try.

HARLOW: Bohl, Banks, Grimley, Heapy (Kent-Pope 70), Vanbeck, Ford, Harron, Brown, Wilkins, Prindiville (Ephgrave 65), Snow, Eynon, Pope (Matchett 60), Romaine, Claridge.

● HARLOW seconds lost narrowly to Hitchin first team 17-15, while the Rams thirds beat Bishop's Stortford fourths 22-15.
